Dedication

TO the boys of Central, who with deep-born Patriotism, have arisen to battle for world democracy this book is reverently dedicated.

Foreword

OUT to France they go for Flag and Country. "Over the Top" they go for Mother. And Mother, that one simple word, embraces the whole of womanhood. There is no school on earth to equal the school of generous thoughtfulness which is found on the battle-fields of Europe today. There the men are finding themselves in that they are finding true sympathy with their brother man. They have everything in common; they wear the same uniform; they think the same thoughts; they do not remember what they were, they only know what they are---soldiers fighting in the same Cause.

THE ideal which has guided the Class of Eighteen has been the thought that they are building the foundation upon which the St. Joseph Junior College depends. As the second class to graduate from this College they have striven to set a record which succeeding classes will be proud to follow.

Early in our Freshman year we felt the need of organization and chose as our leaders Murray Sprague, president; Anna Liebst, vice-president; Agness Miller, secretary and Norman Schwein, treasurer. With these members as leaders and the whole class acting as unit we were able to push forward in many activities. We were ably represented by Joseph Weiner in the St. Joseph vs. Holton debate. Our appreciation of classical learning was rewarded when Morie Weyman received the Greek medal. In no small degree was the dramatic talent of the class shown in the presentation of "The Teeth of the Gift Horse." But seasoning the hard work were many good times. We will always remember the two jolly parties of the year, the hike to Corby Chapel, and the closing picnic of the year.

In September of this year we came back to find that our class had diminished in numbers but we were proud of the fact that this decrease was caused by the "call of the colors." The rest of the members bravely took up the task of making the class a credit to the school and to those who had gone from our group. We again organized with Joseph Weiner as president; Josephine Wells as vice-president; Mildred Minor as secretary and Margaret Mohler as treasurer.

Our last year has been one that will always be a pleasure to look back upon, for every member has put his whole strength into the promotion of his class. And not once have we swerved from our ideal.

"Looking Up"

The End of the Play

The play is done; the curtain drops,
Slow falling to the prompter's bell;
A moment yet the actor stops,
And looks around to say farewell.
It is an irksome word and task;
And, when he's laughed and said his say,
He shows, as he removes the mask,
A face that's sometimes sad—then gay.

Farewell!—I'd say, the griefs, the joys,
Just hinted in this mimic page;
The triumphs and defeats of boys
Are soon repeated in our age.
I'd say, our heroes are not less keen,
Our hopes more vain than those of men;
Our pangs or pleasures of fifteen at forty-five played o'er again.

And in the world, as in the school,
I'd say, how fate may change and shift;
The prize be sometimes with the fool,
The race not always to the swift.
The strong may yield, the good may fall,
The great man may be a vulgar clown,
The knave be lifted over all,
The kind cast pitilessly down.

Come wealth or want, come good or ill,
Let young and old accept their part,
And bow before the Awful Will.
And bear it with an honest heart,
Who misses or who wins the prize.
Go, lose or conquer as you can;
But if you fail, or if you rise,
Be each, pray God, a gentleman.

—William Makepeace Thackeray.

YOUTH has its charms. The Junior College is a young institution. To promote the organization of and interest in the St. Joseph Junior College has been the aim of the first year class. It is the hope and aspiration of every member to see a larger, finer, more unified, and more adequately equipped course until the Junior College becomes an institution of which the schools and citizens of St. Joseph may be proud.

Forty-seven High School graduates assembled last fall, each entertaining the hope of graduating in the Class of Nineteen. Immediately a call for class organization was issued with the result of the election of the following officers: President, Irwin McEwen; vice-president, Mamie Strop; secretary, Roberta Chambers; and treasurer, Vernon Grief. However, shortly afterward, Mamie Strop was elected as president upon the resignation of Irwin McEwen. Mildred Crawford was elected vice-president.

The class enjoyed a cordial welcome from the class of '18 by a beautiful party given in our honor. Other enjoyable events of the year were a party at the home of Miss Isabel Nelson, and an old fashioned Valetine box on St. Valetine's Day.

In answer to every call for the demonstration of patriotism the class has done its best. Its individual members have given freely of their time and resources, and as a class it presented a play, the proceeds of which were used to buy a Liberty Bond. This was presented to the Red Triangle organization.

AT three o'clock on Monday afternoon, October 29, twenty students of the First Year Junior College met in Room 12 to form a Dramatic Society. After the election of officers and the drawing up of a constitution, we turned our attention to a play. Zona Gale's one-act play, "The Neighbors," was selected, and was presented by the society in the latter part of November. The production was a great success financially, over six hundred tickets having been sold. The society turned over fifty dollars to the First Year Class for the purchase of a Liberty Bond. The rest of the proceeds we invested in a wonderful party at Cora Connett's. There, in addition to delicious and long-remembered "eats," every member of the society received, as a souvenir, a beautiful or useful gift, just the desire of his heart. For more reasons than one, none of us will ever forget that evening.

Perhaps you may think that we have done very little this year, but just remember, please, how very young we are. Next year we hope to organize earlier, and to include in our membership every one in the Junior College who has any interest in dramatics.

"The Neighbors"

ON Wednesday, November 26th, the Junior College Dramatic Society presented, in the High School Auditorium, a one-act play entitled "The Neighbors." The scene is laid in "Mrs. Abel's" kitchen, in a little Wisconsin village, and all the characters are typical village folks.

The characters were exceptionally well handled. Eileen James made a charming coquettish little Inez to the diffident Peter, Roland Stuebner. The humor of Mrs. Abel, the most comical part, was added to by Roberta Chambers. The neighbor ladies, Mrs. Moran and Mrs. Trot, were exceedingly well characterized by Ruth Spangberg and Caroline Hartwig. One of the most difficult characters was "grandma," presented with great talent by Dorothy Challis. Louise Lacy made a pathetic and effective Mis' Ellsworth, and Adolphus Berger ably characterized the gruff but kind-hearted Ezra Williams. Much credit is also due to Mr. Berger for his patient work as director, and to Mr. Grief for his capability in handling the finances.

THE Y. W. C. A. Club was organized December, 1916, by the Girl's Work Secretary, Miss Elizabeth Lawson, with the purpose of promoting a spirit of comradeship and democracy in the Junior College. The first year we followed the plan of having outside speakers at our meetings but this year we decided that in College we should develop true student initiative. So we have planned and carried out our own meetings and parties. This fall we successfully entertained the girls of the first year class. The club is open to all girls of the Junior College who have the interest of the school at heart.

THE Junior College has taken an active interest in athletics this year. Basketball has been the major sport and a good start has been made toward making a Junior College basketball schedule a reality. While the team played but two games this year, the year may well be considered a success because of the interest and enthusiasm which was shown at the big event of the season, the game with Company A, 356th Infantry, Camp Funston. This game was played in the gymnasium and the Junior College, aided by the addition of two members of the Central team, won an easy victory—the score being 58 to 17. Several interesting military and musical numbers accompanied the game and about sixty dollars was added to the soldiers recreation fund.

Athletics have been somewhat hampered this year by the lack of two members of the basketball squad. But it is the hope of every Junior College student that next year, with a larger body, athletics will take its place with other College activities.

The Student's Vision

I stood in the hall at midnight, and from each deserted room
Came an eerie sighing, rustling and whispering in the gloom;
A fleeting phantom-murmur, a stir as of silken cloths—
Then white shapes swooping, circling like the ghosts of giant moths.

"What may you be?" I stammered, as I trembled with affright,

"Are you mere hallucinations, O creatures of the night?"

"We are shades and premonitions," they moaned back to me.

"The shades and premonitions of the Papers Yet To Be;
Of English inquisitions, of tests in Cal and French,
Of endless History exams, and things to make you blench.

We hover 'round each student's bed, pursue him in his dreams,

And even haunt the teachers—(who dread us too, it seems).

We—"

"Halt!" I interrupted. "Your words appall nobody;
Know all men by these presents—I fear you not. I study."

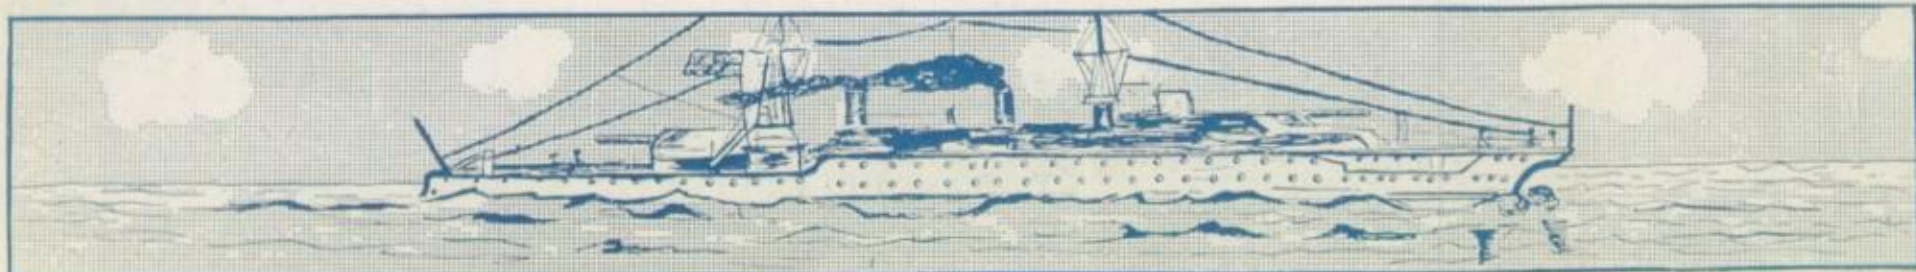

A deathlike silence followed. Then the circling spectres broke

Into baffled shrieks and wailings and all went up in smoke.

Elva Garbe

Elva is one of our most patient workers as her high standing and her love for mathematics proves. She intends to go to college and we are sure that her steadfastness will bring her success wherever she goes.

Richard Walton Garlich "Dick"

If you want something done and done well, just search for Dick. He is a hard worker and a sincere and likable friend. Next year he intends to go to Kansas University.

Roberta Helen Gill
"Bob"

Bob is an all-around girl, always ready for a good time, but never puts aside her school work to enjoy life. She is very fond of the movies but studying music is her highest ambition.

Martha Margaret Griffin

Martha is a true "Saint Josephite" and many of the girls wish that they might have her attractive reddish-gold hair. She wishes to go to France but we hope that she will not stay away from us too long.

Clio.

Fred Habig

"Dutch" expects to enter the University of Missouri and we are sure that we will be proud of him there. We all like Dutch because he always wears a smile and has a friendly greeting for every one. Commercial Law is his favorite study and hunting is his favorite pastime.

Ada Hagemier

Ada is one of the good-natured girls of the Philomathian Society. She is a good little cook and her desire is to become a domestic science teacher. We hope that she will favor Central as a teacher in this art.

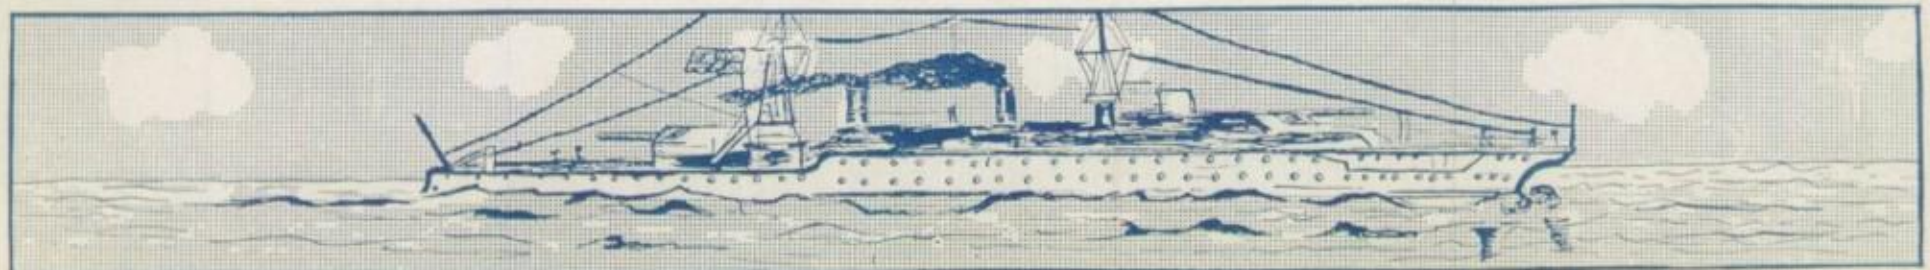

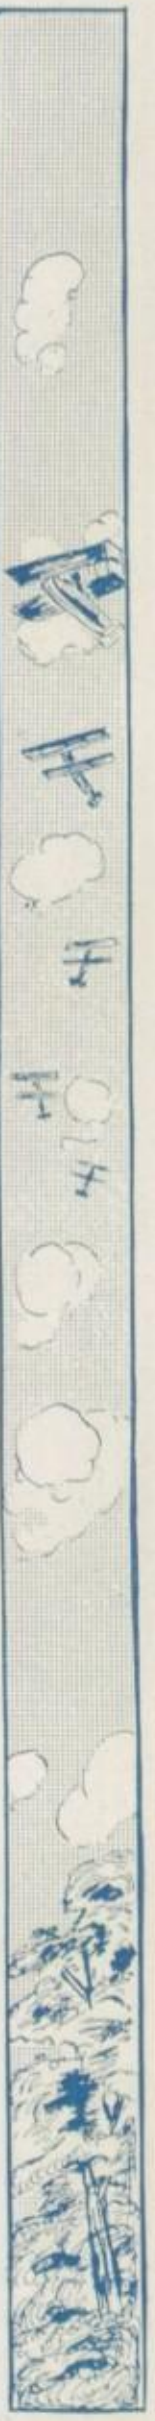

John W. Hall
"Deacon"

We hardly have the space to tell of John's accomplishments, talents and popularity.

Fred Harder
"Fritz"

Fred is one of the most diligent students of our class and he is ranked as a "shark." He will attend Junior College next year and will then complete his course at the University of Missouri. We are sure he will be a success in whatever work he enters.

Ernest Harrison

Ernest is one of the modest fellows of the class, but like other people of modesty he is a hard worker and gets results. The class need not be surprised at any great thing that he does.

Harriett Hazel Hawken

Hazel says her favorite pastime is studying (?) but she does not look thin nor pale from it. She wishes to go to France as a Red Cross nurse.

Freshman Literary Society.

Melba Hawkins

Melba was voted the most popular girl in her class. She is a friend to every one and great is the number of students that she has influenced by her sincere manner. Melba expects to attend Junior College next year.

Central Outlook Staff

Genevieve Hensley

Genevieve says that she would rather see a good basketball game or see a comedy than anything else. O. Henry is her favorite author. The class of 1918 wishes her good luck in anything she undertakes.

Philomathian.

Irene Hicks

Irene is a dear and everybody loves her. She is very versatile as she can cook, sew, and paint. She had the experience of sleeping out on a porch last fall and having a cat serve as a heater for her feet. She has not told every one why she was too excited to try very hard to get in the house, but the class congratulates her anyway.

Roger Hicks
"Dolly"

Roger's quiet manner has not kept him from having a great many true friends. He is considering being a rector and with his sincerity and manliness success is certain.

Mary Hocker

Mary's highest aim is to do something useful and we are quite sure that she is capable for she shows many kindnesses to her friends. She is quite unusual because one of her favorite pastimes is writing letters.

Gladys Rewell Holland

We have with us the scintillating constellation of the class, otherwise the shining light in lessons, true sportsmanship and good fellowship. She will attend Washington University next year.

Adrien Islaub

Here is one of '18's most unselfish girls, always willing to do a favor for every person. She is ever in a good humor, and is a strong and athletic girl who enjoys nothing more than a day in the woods.

Leta May Jackson
"Lee"

"Lee" is one of the sweetest, prettiest and most attractive girls of Central. Her greatest desire is to be a lady druggist. She intends to enter the University of Kansas.
Clio.

Masie Jacobson
"Jake"

"Jake" is another well known member of the Senior class. Her pastimes are varied, hikes, fishing and picnics, showing that she is a lover of the great out-of-doors; and listen boys—her highest ambition is to manage a modern farm.
Vice-President Philomathian '17

Emma Johnson

Emma is one of the quiet girls at Central High. But just the same, if you once get acquainted with her, you will be sure to like her.

Louise Ogretta Jones
"Deto"

Ogretta is one of the Senior class who will attend Junior College. "Deto" loves to read. What? She says Harold Bell Wright's works. Her highest ambition is to attain happiness and we are sure she will.
Philomathian.

Blanche Kaufman

Blanche certainly proves the saying that precious things comes in small packages. Blanche's good nature, her willingness to help a comrade in distress, aside from her own sweet personality, has won her a host of friends in the class of '18.

Myron Kimmel
"Kim"

"Kim" is one of the liveliest boys at Central and is liked by everyone. His highest aim is to become a farmer. Kim's favorite pastime is playing basketball; for he played on the second team one season.

Eunice Estelle King
"Unie"

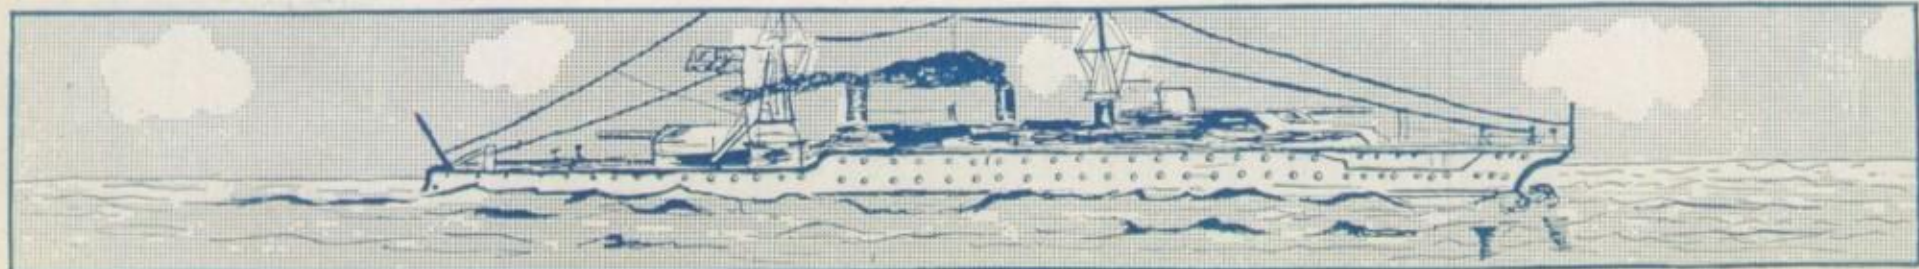

To know this sweet girl is to love her for she always has a kind word and a smile for everyone whom she meets. She will attend business college next year and hopes to become the Private Secretary to the President of the United States. Olympian.

Ruth Irene King
"Sammie"

Anyone who was ever in "Sammie's" gym class remembers the way she can perform on the rings. Ruth is a very tiny girl but she can wield a tennis racket as well as any one. Ward-Belmont College will probably enroll her as a pupil. Freshman Literary Society.

Evelyn Elizabeth Kline
"Skidder"

Evelyn claims Broadway, Virginia, as her birthplace but forsook it for "The City Worth While." Evelyn was an enthusiastic member of Central's Glee Club in '17 and has contributed much to the success of that organization. The class of '18 wishes her great success in her chosen profession which is "to soothe the savage beast" with her vocal powers.

Helen Emily Ladd
"Laddie"

Helen came to Central only this year but during her short stay with us has made many friends. Stout Institute will claim her next year and when she finishes her course she expects to be a Domestic Science teacher.

Marie Lawson

Marie really keeps secrets, and is as sweet and pretty as she is loyal. She doesn't tell her highest aim but she sews and cooks very well so we can almost prophesy her life.

Dan is now working in his father's printing shop and has aided in the printing of Central Outlook, and of this book. McDonald was husky enough to make the football team of '18.

Gertrude Maeder

There is grace in every movement. "Johnny" is the most graceful girl in Central. She can dance like the breeze, so light and airy she surely will succeed at N. A. G. U. and be the greatest dancer in the world.

Beatrice Mankin

"Bec's favorite pastime is reading, and her highest aim is to become an English teacher. Here is our wish for her—That this great desire will be fulfilled.

Helen M. Marechal

Y. W. C. A. Club
Treasurer of Y. W. Club '17.

Stella Mossman

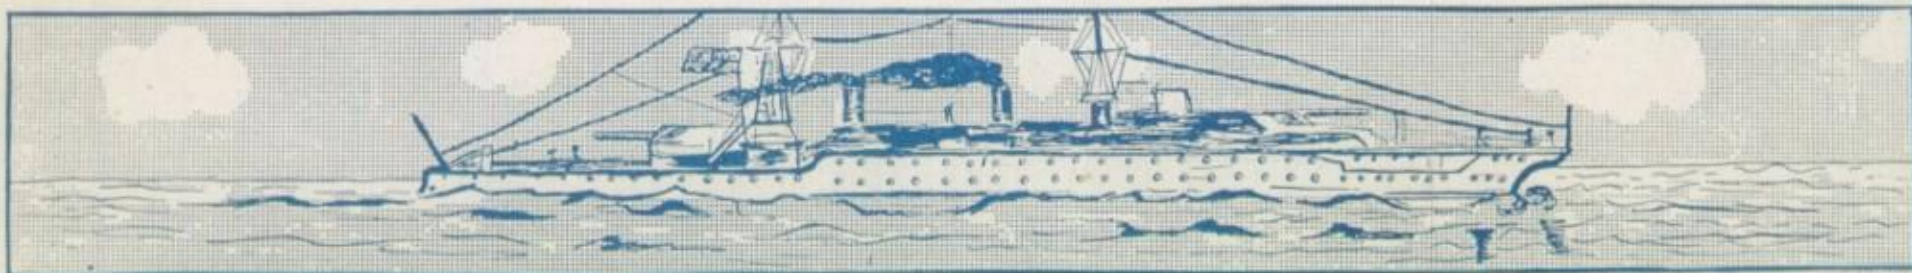

Stella certainly hasn't been the nosiest person at Central and because she has so modestly and rather selfishly kept all her sterling qualities to herself we aren't able to enumerate her abilities. But we can truthfully say she has a great many true friends.

Gertrude Mosteller
"Gert"

We don't know a great deal about "Gert" because she doesn't linger long after school. She can't help making a fine domestic science teacher, because she is very conscientious and ambitious. "Gert" is a wonderfully sweet girl.

Josephine Mosteller

"Joe" is quite brilliant and also unusual; for her favorite study is Latin. Very few know of her sterling qualities as she is very quiet and modest. Her highest aim is to be a Spanish teacher.

Charles J. Mund
"Monday"

Living in South Saint Joseph and coming up to Central every day gave "Monday" the idea that he could be a successful traffic manager. Anyway that is his ambition. After completing the Junior College Course, he will attend the University of Chicago.

Helen Pfeiffer

Helen has been in High School for a short time but has made many friends. She did not tell us her highest ambition but from her attractive looks and manners, we can imagine the outcome.

Helen Pierce

To become a teacher is the ambition of Helen. She will receive her training in this at the Maryville Normal. We shall expect to see her as one of Central's teachers in the future.

Thomas E. Prater

He says that his highest aim is to bring about universal peace. When we have won the war, we hope that he will succeed in this. His favorite pastime is any kind of outdoor sports.

Caroline Reents

Friends has she many; enemies none. "Cary" is always there when it comes to helping a fellow out when he is trying to keep from flunking. In French and in dancing she is an expert.

Elmer E. Reital

Elmer is one of our athletic members who will probably make the track team this year. We hope that his wish to attend the Saint Joseph Law School will be had.

Ruth Retzer

"A merry heart goes all of the way." Here is one of our Seniors who doesn't like to study and still carries home good grades. Ruth loves a good time with plenty of food. But her aim is to fight in the army.

James M. Reynolds "Goldie"

You can always have fun with "Goldie;" he is always ready for a good time. That is the way in which he got his nickname. But Jim is ambitious, too; he wants to be a business man. May good luck go with him.

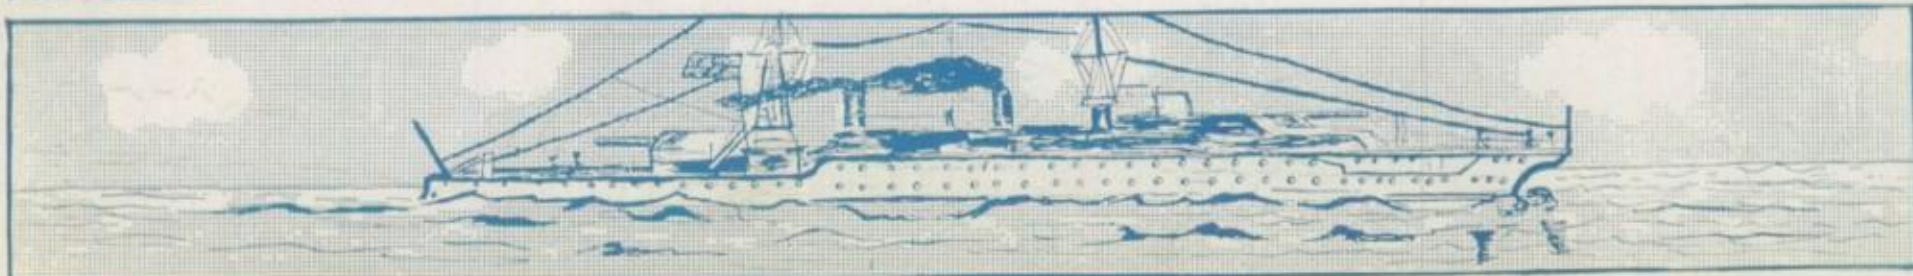

Earl Richardson "Red"

"Brick" was one of the supporters of athletics and although he had no chance to become a star, he was captain of the second team two years. We hope that he will obtain a good position in some large business house, because that is his ambition.

James Sollars
"Jim"

Jim is a rather tall fellow but when you stand on a chair or something you can find a mighty good fellow away up there to talk to. His longitude made him an exceptionally capable basketball center. He rarely jumped for the ball in any game.

Georgia May Spencer
"Jigs"

"Jigs" spent a lot of time in the country but she is as fashionable and attractive as any "Vogue" lady. Her desire is to travel and take life easy. Athletic Association.

Charles Bradford Spofford
"Box-car"

Charley or "Box-car," as you would imagine, is a boy of considerable size. He wishes to risk himself among the women but it is dangerous as fat men make fine henpecked husbands. Football '17 and '18.

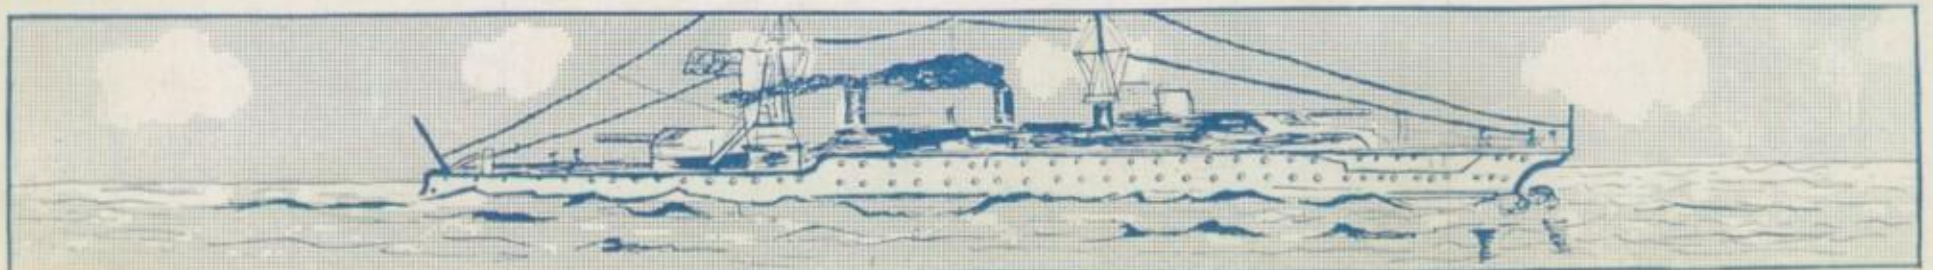

Irving Stelzer
"Bromo"

All commercial subjects generally found favor with Irving. His athletic tendencies were expressed on the football field. He is a good-natured and jolly fellow and those who know him like him.

Milton Street

Behold the man who wishes to make a fortune. With his ambition and brilliance he certainly should attain this height. His favorite pastime runs along the same as his ambition. He loves to collect money.

Blanche Lucile Thomas "Cutie"

One of our smallest girls is Blanche. Her only ambition is to grow tall but we think she is much sweeter as she is. Though small in stature Blanche has a big heart and is always a willing worker.

Byron Thompson

Byron is too modest to show how capable he is but the Journalism class has certainly found it out. Don't be surprised when you read of him editing some big newspaper. Byron's sincerity has won many friends.

C. Earl Tull "Sack"

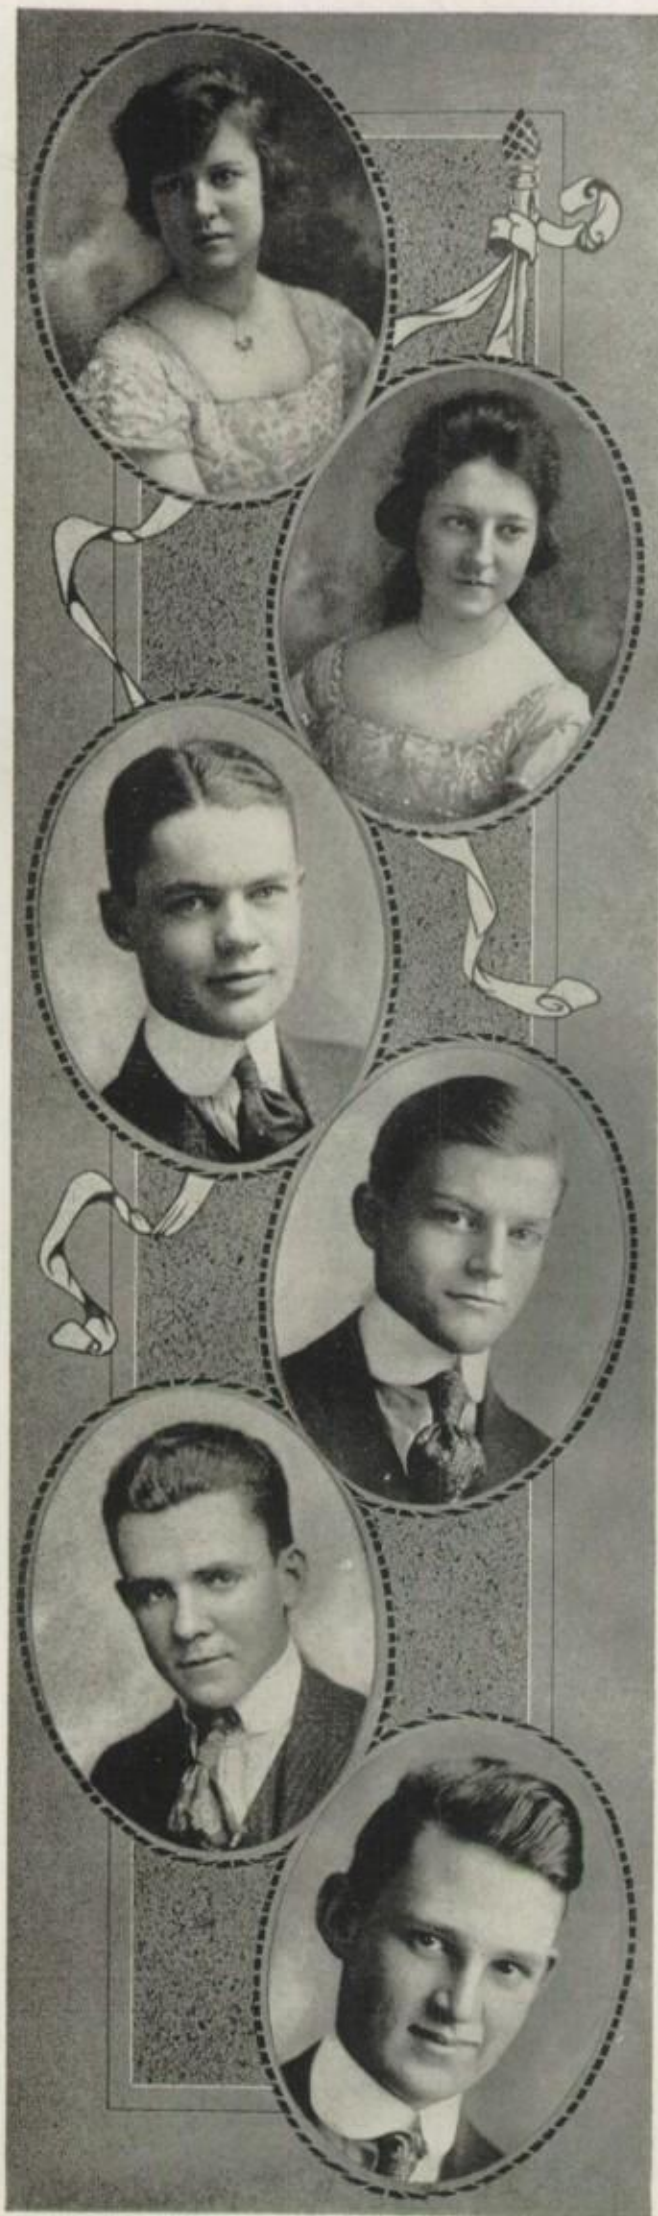

Earl is a wearer of the Blue and White on the Basketball court. His practiced hand with the ball has helped Central "over the top" in many basketball games. Earl plans to attend the University of California next year. Knowing his success in mathematics at Central we know he will go through the line.

Hazel Underwood

Hazel comes to Central for the first period then goes to business college for the remainder of the day. The height of Hazel's ambition is "to see all the world." We certainly hope that her wish is fulfilled.

Mildred Waite
"Mid"

"She liked whate'er she looked upon."
"Mid" came to us when she was a Junior from Illinois but has made a host of friends while here. Next year she expects to attend the National Kindergarten College.

Millicent Waite

Millicent came to Central in her Junior year from Illinois. She soon became very popular and won a host of friends. She is anxious to ride in an aeroplane and she confides that she expects to realize this lofty ideal when "He" comes back from France.

Hodge Wallace

"Dog"
His Sunday name is "Society," but we all know him as "Dog." He has many friends and they all know that they will enjoy the success that he will have in his professional career.

Harold G. Watkins
"Weinie"

Here is one of the busiest members of our class. The amount of work he takes care of besides his studies is almost incredible. In every successful activity there is evidence of Harold's executive ability and support. Then, too, he is naturally good-natured which makes him liked by all and one of the most popular fellows of the class.

Junior Red Cross

CENTRAL High School feels very proud of its Junior Red Cross. In the months since its organization it has done much to keep Central's standard in war relief very high. Not only has the number of articles made been many but the quality of the work has been almost 100 per cent. perfect. The local Red Cross complimented us upon our work, and knitted garments sent away have called forth much admiration.

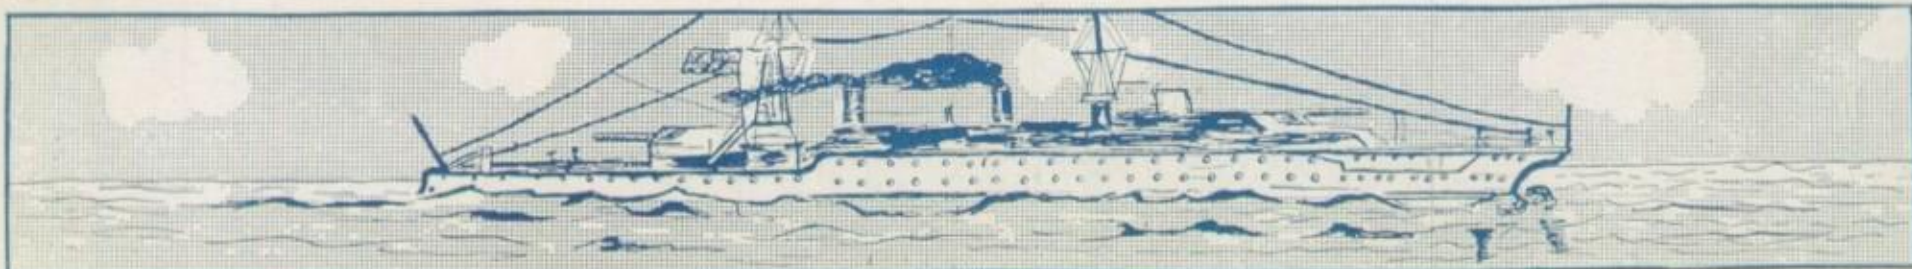

The first work undertaken was the making of three-piece knitted sets for our own twenty-five boys in the army and navy. The money for this was raised by voluntary subscription in the auditorium meeting. These sets were sent off to reach the boys for Christmas gifts. We then began knitting for the Red Cross, and have used 708 hanks of yarn and completed about 400 garments. In the sewing classes all the girls are working on Red Cross garments and up to April 4 had finished 413 garments. The boys in the manual training classes have made 24 boxes for the Red Cross headquarters.

As this work could not be carried on without money, a drive for subscriptions was made in March, and the amount of $140 was realized. Much interest was aroused which will result in other subscriptions later. As the Junior Red Cross membership is only 25 cents, this means 960 members, which is 112 per cent. of our enrollment.

March 18 to 25 was Old Clothes Week at Central and a large amount of serviceable clothing and shoes was collected for the Belgians.

The work of the year will culminate in our Great Red Cross Fair and Festival to be given Friday, May 3, when we expect to raise $1,000 for our work next year.

"With malice toward none; with charity for all; with a firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan—to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all of the nations."—Abraham Lincoln.

THE Senate has passed another successful year in helping the school, under the leadership of Harold Watkins. Among the things which the Senate accomplished during the year are: The big parades before the Omaha game, the selling of megaphones and programs for the game, and the big bonfire after the game. All of these things made the Omaha team tell their school what a "peppy" school we have here. The Senate gave the school a service flag with a star for every fellow who went from school to join the "colors." It also gave the loving cup which was presented to the class that won the interclass track meet. The picnic which was held was a big success.

Taking everything into consideration, the year for the Senate has been most successful, both in what it has done for the school, and in what it has done for itself.

"Give his little Senate laws,
 And sit attentive to his own applause."

C. M. Hobart
Debate Coach

Interscholastic Debating

THE first year of interscholastic debating has been a very successful one for Central. A dual debate with Central High of Omaha was held. The affirmative team which debated at home won a unanimous decision, while the negative team was defeated at Omaha by a 2 to 1 decision.

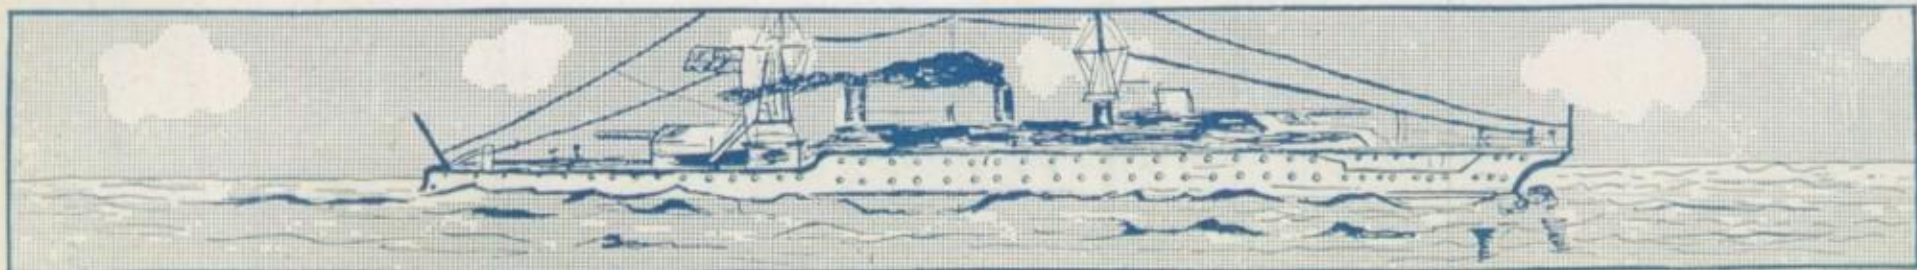

The Missouri State Debating League team won the championship of Northwest Missouri. Out of seven debates, Central was victorious in five of them. There were in all twenty-one judges of our debates; seventeen of these voted for Central and four against her.

We defeated Tarkio, Lathrop, Burlington Junction and Lexington all by unanimous decision. In the semi-finals for the state championship Central was defeated by Mount Vernon by a 2 to 1 decision at Mount Vernon.

The members of the team were given thorough and expert training under the direction of Mr. Hobart. Great praise of the debating in Central is given to our coach who has worked long and hard to make our teams victorious.

As this is only our first year in interscholastic debating, we feel confident that in the coming years, with more experience, we shall have even more successful years and bring greater honor and glory to dear old Central.

HOOVERIZING is a familiar word to all the students and faculty members at Central. Every one has done his best in this particular line by not eating those foods which the Government asks them to conserve for our soldiers and our allies.

All the people who eat in the lunch room have fallen in with the Hoover idea by not complaining about the food on wheatless and meatless days that have been observed in our lunch room.

Central's Household Arts classes have done a great deal to help the food administration. In the past year they used only fifty per cent. as much sugar as in 1916. Syrups were substituted for sugar in the candies that were made last Christmas, and in all recipes calling for sugar at least half the amount was syrup.

In making bread, muffins, cakes, cookies, biscuits and griddle cakes, rice flour, corn flour, barley flour, cooked rice or potatoes were substituted for wheat, thereby saving fifty per cent. as much wheat as in former years.

Thirty per cent. of the fat was saved this year by using vegetable fats. No lard was used, and butter was never used for cooking purposes.

Many protein foods were substituted for meat, such as vegetable loaves made of peas or beans and nuts. In this way twenty-five per cent. of the meat used in 1916 was saved this year.

Last fall the girls canned such vegetables as beans, peas, corn and tomatoes, and these were used in the lunch room this last winter.

They also learned to conserve fuel by cooking several foods together. These were called the one-fire menus and have proved to be very successful.

WE have come to the close of our sixth Boys' High School Club year. We think back on the year with a feeling of pride over the success of our club. We have had our usual portion of beans, "spuds" and apple pie, but along with the food we have had good serious talks by prominent men in our city. Most of them have been patriotic and we have a deeper sense of duty and responsibility to our nation, from having been members of this club.

We have had a Father and Son banquet this year as one of our special occasions and we believe that we understand our Dads better and we think we are understood better by our Dads because of this little meeting that we had together. The thought of all the speakers at this banquet was that the relations between Father and Son is more sacred now than ever before. Because many a Dad appreciates his Son more since he is in France or a training camp, and many a Son appreciates Dad the way he didn't before he left his home.

But by far our most successful affair was the Best Girl banquet which closed the club year. The idea of patriotism was uppermost at this meeting. The speaker told of how the young men and young women of today might truly be the hope of the world.

Wonderful times have we had, numberless friendships have we made, and we have received a great deal of character developing because the standard of our club has been "To create, maintain, and extend a higher standard of Christian living among the students of Central."

TO create and maintain a religious sentiment and to develop all sides of our Central girls is the purpose of this organization. Heretofore this club has comprised only the "faithful few," but at the beginning of this school year the "faithful few" determined to make this an organization of prominence at Central. They had various interesting discussions and programs; many social stunts, hikes, weenie roasts, "get together" parties, and a new spirit and enthusiasm prevailed. The membership has increased to over fifty members. At some of the meetings the girls themselves led, at others, outside people talked on girls' ideals and problems or women's war work. Such speakers as Rabbi Bernstein, Mrs. Connett, Mrs. Dr. Dillard and Mrs. Duval Smith have talked to the girls this year. One very interesting program was led by a member of our own faculty when Miss Ella Lee Moulton talked on Social Problems and factory conditions. At the next meeting the girls visited several factories of our own city to find out the conditions. The best party of the year was the one given at the home of Leah Spratt, when the girls asked the boys of the Y. M. C. A. Club. All together this has been a most successful year for the girls' Y. W. C. A. Club and it is the heartfelt wish of every member that the club shall continue to grow and maintain its prominent position among the organizations of Central.

"For the Colonel's Lady and Judy O'Grady Are Sisters Under the Skin."—Kipling.

Agathia

THE Agathia Society was organized in the year 1911 by a group of girls whose desire was to cultivate a taste for all "Good Things" in life and literature, and to acquire the ability of expressing one's self accurately and with ease on all occasions.

Many honors which we have highly appreciated have come to the society during its eventful life at Central.

In the past year we devoted our time to the study of the poets of the New School and their works, and variety was furnished by frequent musical or miscellaneous programs. The society has been well represented in all-school activities, this year as well as in the past.

Our first great dramatic achievement was the charming little Irish play, "The Twig of Thorn," which was followed by the artistic one-act play, "Op-o-me-Thumb," given in auditorium meeting last year. This year we attained our greatest success when we presented the two one-act plays, one a clever New England comedy, the other an intensely dramatic Irish production. To these successes we are greatly indebted to our most capable directress, Miss Leolian Carter, who was ably assisted by Miss Roberta Sheets.

But we owe to our society not only our literary accomplishments but also many social pleasures. The annual Alpha Gamma breakfast given on Prospect Hill in the spring was greatly enjoyed, and the party given for our boy friends at the home of Caroline Tull was a splendid success.

We sincerely hope to uphold the high standards of our progressive society in the future.

Aleph Lamed

THE close of its third year shows that the Aleph Lamed Literary Society has added another illustrious chapter to its history.

At the beginning of the first term every girl learned to knit and work for the Red Cross began. But when the Junior Red Cross was organized, all the garments were called in and 17 scarfs, 3 pairs of wristlets and 2 sweaters were turned over to the Red Cross Headquarters. At Christmas two dozen dolls were purchased and dressed by the girls for the destitute children of St. Joseph. Plans for a party were discussed in March but when the Red Cross called for clothes the girls instead gave the money to the Junior Red Cross at Central.

As a means for better programs, the society was divided into two contesting sides under two captains and a fine spirit of competition resulted. The short story and the drama were studied and extemporaneous speaking was one of the main features of the programs.

Although unnecessary expenditures was avoided, the society has had some good times mingled with the work. When Miss Belle Lehrman, former assistant society directress left the city, a farewell party was given at the home of Hannah Abramson. Near the close of the first term the society gave a mothers' day program.

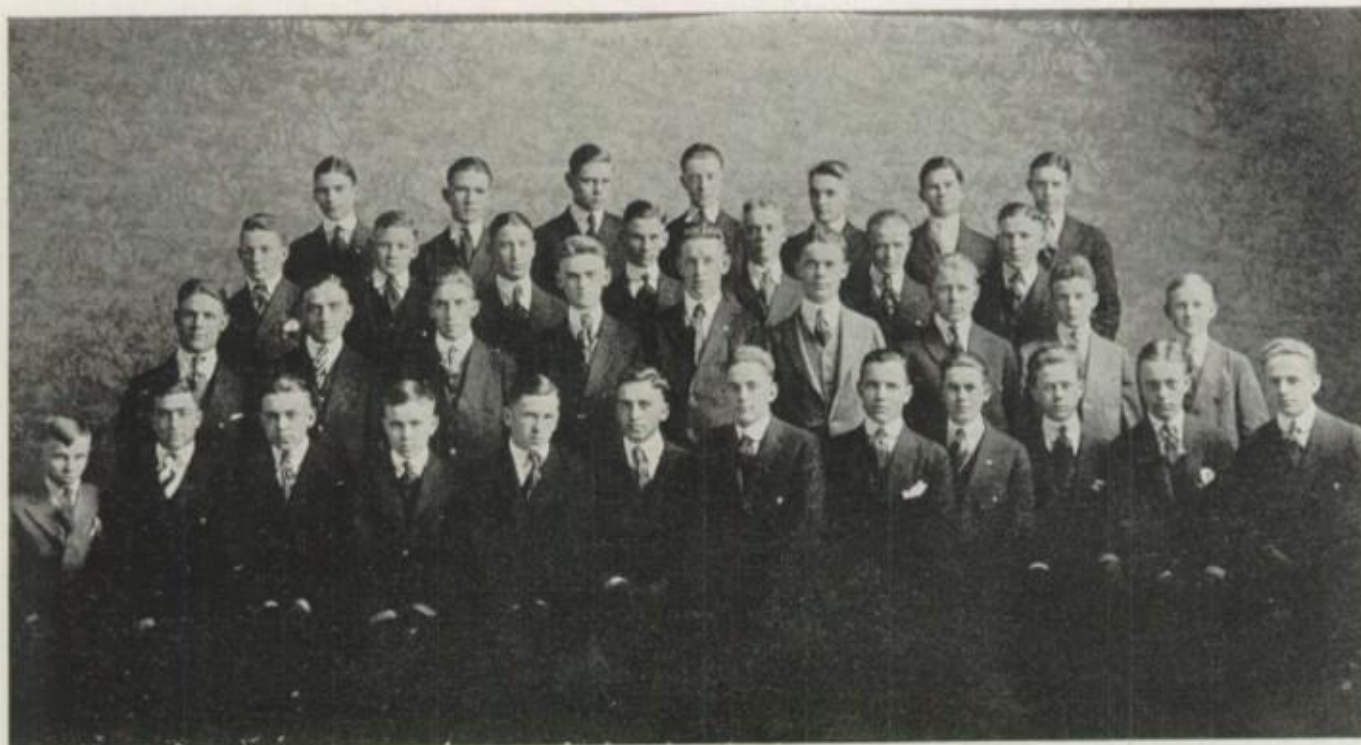

We feel that we have just cause to be proud of our society this year. Our representatives in contests and school organizations have done particularly well. Ruth Levin is famous for her work on the debating team and we also can claim as a member the poet laureate of the school, Berenice Rosenfield. The society will miss the five seniors who have done so much for Aleph Lamed but with the new members next year we hope to even better our record.

Alpha Nu Pi

THE year 1917-1918 marks the twentieth anniversary of the organization of Alpha Nu Pi. In all lines of school activity, in scholarship, band and orchestra, in athletics, from football in the fall to track and baseball in the spring, in dramatics and literary events, in Red Cross, Red Triangle and other patriotic movements, in the May Fete and social circles—in every effort for school and country—the members have acquitted themselves creditably.

Many honors have been bestowed on us during the past year. The President, Secretary, and Valedictorian of the Senior Class, President and Secretary of the Athletic Association, Vice-President and Secretary of the Glee Club, Vice-President and Secretary of the High School Club, President of the Orchestra, Manager of the Baseball Team, and six Senators are members of the Alpha Nu Pi.

The Intersociety Debate was won by us—the second consecutive victory for this team and the eleventh since the debate was instituted. In declamation, our representative, Sheridan Logan, received honorable mention.

Prominent roles in the Christmas and Junior plays and Assembly sketches have been taken by members of the Alpha Nu Pi, demonstrating our dramatic ability.

The Duty Nine, as in former year, hiked to Maryville.

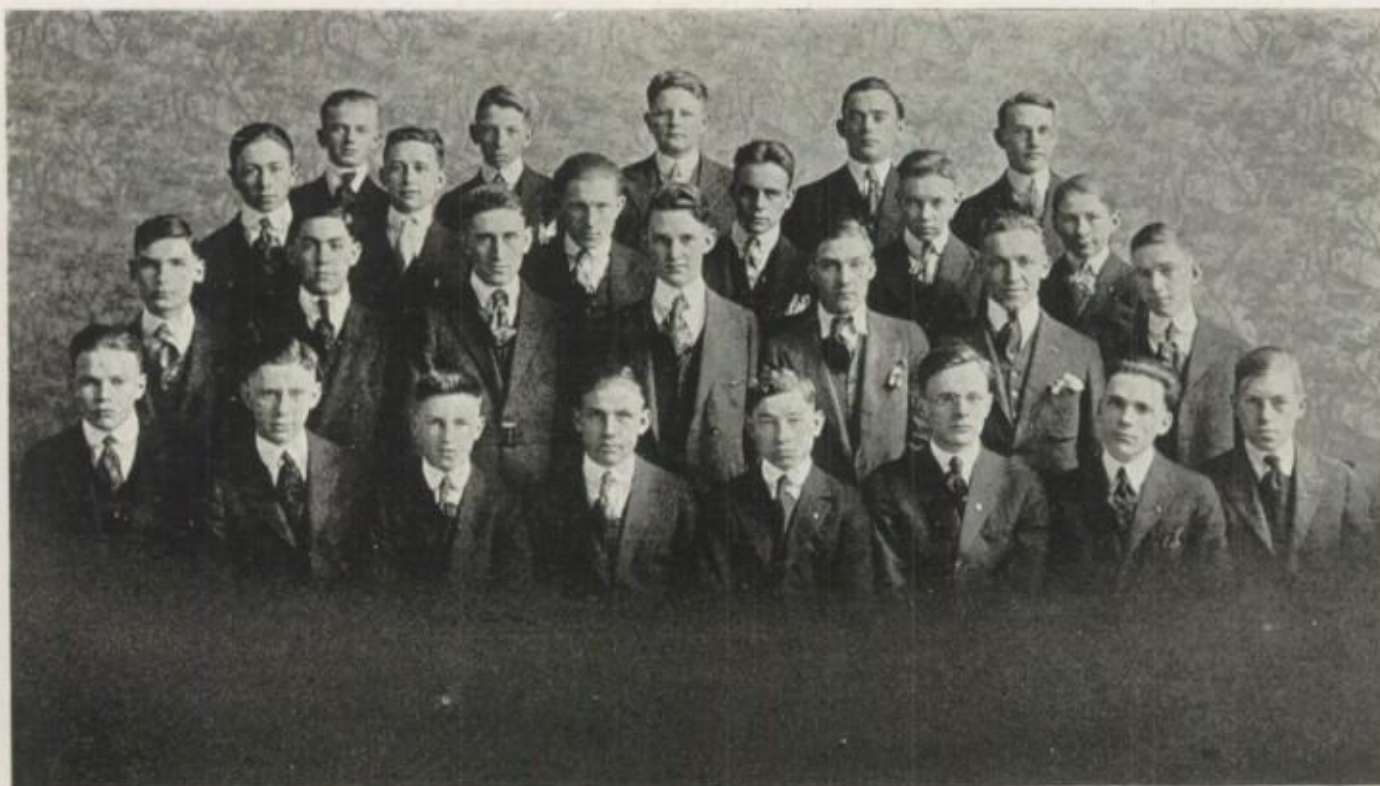

Supplementing our literary and dramatic endeavors, we have enjoyed numerous social stunts. Early in the year, we substituted for the weekly lunch room "feeds," monthly stag parties, which have proved exceptionally enjoyable. We have had several delightful dances which with the hikes, hay-rides, and picnic and finally the banquet make the members feel that along with their literary work they have had an unusually enjoyable year.

To the capable direction of Miss Summy, who returned after a year's absence on account of ill health, and of Miss Garlich, is due largely the success attained in the past year.

Aristotelian

THE Aristotelian Literary Society of Central was organized October 23, 1914. Its members regard this year, the fourth, as being the most profitable and successful year of its existence. Have its members not reason to be proud of the things accomplished in 1918! For no matter whether it was in debating, scholarship, athletics, dramatics, or backing the blue and white of old Central High, the A. N. S. boys have taken their places among the foremost.

We could not do otherwise. With Miss Sutherland and Mr. Denning as sponsors, with "Labor omnia vincit" as our motto, with a membership of enthusiastic fellows, we have shown by our accomplishments that the A. N. S. has earned its leadership among the literary societies of Central.

Although it was the first time that we placed on the Inter-society Debate, our member, Earl Whitsell, won the W. K. James medal. Two of the six Centralites who debated Omaha were A. N. S. debaters. Many of the debaters have won insignias. Thus far in the race in the intersociety scholarship, the Aristotelians hold the cup.

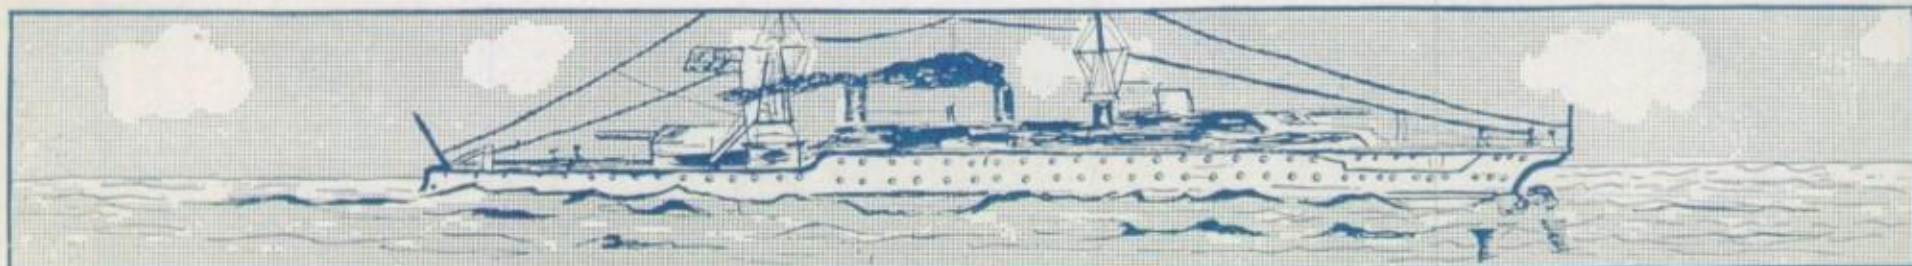

In athletics we had successful track, football and basketball teams. The captains of the football and track teams of Central were of the A. N. S. Two captains of interclass track teams, the President, Treasurer and Executive Committee of the Senate, the Publicity Agent of the Athletic Association, the Treasurer of the H. S. Club, Senator of Junior Class, Treasurer of Senior Class, Business Manager, Circulation Manager, Photographer and one of the Editorial of the Annual are Aristotelians. Other members are working on The Outlook for the interest of Central.

In social events, we had many fine times this year. On October 22 we started the events of our year with a hike, followed the next week by our annual hay-ride to Saxton. Then followed stag parties and dances. The parties at the homes of Leonard Cronkite and John Landis will be especially remembered. A. N. S. Day was celebrated on March 29, the boys wearing arm-bands of purple and gold. That night came our illustrious truck ride to Easton. Since that we have had a picnic. All social functions were kept right in line with Hoover's plans and the least expense possible was made at the banquets we held. The year was closed by our annual fishing trip to Platte River.

To Mr. R. L. Denning, the founder of the A. N. S., and to Miss Blanche Sutherland is given all credit for the success of our boys. Their scholastic judgment has produced the highest development of literary acumen and taste. Their interest deserves indeed the heartfelt gratitude of the society.

Ciceronian

THE Ciceronian Society has completed one of the most successful years in its career. Our members have been connected with every branch of school activities—Athletics, dramatics, literary work and social events. In football four of our members were on the first team. Four were also on the basketball team, one of whom was captain. We won both the Intersociety football and basketball championships.

Ciceronians were well represented in school officers. The presidents of the Junior Class and Boys' High School Club were the most important offices held. One of our members was on the School debating team. Our representative in declamation, John Hall, won the medal and represented the school at Maryville where he won first place.

Although we were not permitted to present a play this year, we gave a minstrel show in an auditorium meeting which was pronounced excellent by every one.

In a social way we have not been behind as was shown by our many successful dances and other parties. One of the enjoyable ones was our Annual New Year's Eve Party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Jessopp.

All of the credit of our success the entire year we give to our friends and directors, Miss Anna Jensen and Mr. L. E. Thatcher.

But the year is over. Some of us are going out into the world to take up the bigger things of life while the rest will remain at Central to give her all of the loyal support possible. But wherever we are we hope that we will always in all places remain true to dear old Central.

Clio

DURING the first semester Clio girls enjoyed a series of miscellaneous programs on drama, music, literature, authors and composers. The war problems as to conservation and relief work and our part in helping Uncle Sam were very seriously discussed. The present semester has been devoted mainly to a careful study of plays as this is the year Clio expects to distinguish herself in dramatics.

Our French orphans have been a source of real pleasure to us this year. We have received many interesting letters and their pictures. A box of Christmas cheer was finally received by them from diligent working Clios.

Home relief also has been looked after by the girls and Christmas baskets packed full of goodies made way to several homes and our thankfulness in the season of thanks was expressed by filling baskets for the needy ones.

Clio has had a splendid and happy year in her own meetings and helping others.

Good times mingled with work gives an added zest to the latter and Clio has, indeed, had some gay, good times. The first affair of the year was a hayride given in honor of the new members. Although there was a general mixup and all did not arrive at the appointed destination still we must admit that that hay-ride was glorious fun. Later in the year a Hallowe'en masquerade was given at the home of Melba Hawkins. It certainly was a splendid success.

The year's crowning event was the alumnae luncheon, given at the Hotel Robidoux, during Christmas vacation. This custom of having a "family" reunion during happy Christmas time we hope to continue through many years. A feast, given in honor of the Clio's new members, at the home of Melba Hawkins, was a glorious success and a spread given at the beginning of the month of March was no less than previous social functions of Clio, in fun and happiness.

By a glorious party we hope to close this year the happiest of all years. Clio girls feel that whatever success and accomplishments we have had, is due to the unceasing labors and kind thoughtfulness of our directress, Miss Neely.

Dianthian

THE whole world must respect the pioneers in history, just so Central High School must respect the Dianthians, the pioneers in school history. We were the first to present a one-act play at Central; since our "Glory of the Morning" and the "Register," many organizations of High Schools have adopted this novel idea. We were the first to contribute to the Belgian fund, and the first to adopt a French orphan.

Our programs have been especially interesting this year, dealing with current events, and the study of Women's Colleges. Many delightful programs on war literature were enjoyed.

The social festivities have been most successful. Last July we brought together our alumnae and our friends at Central in a tea at the home of Blanche McCauley. In the fall we gave a delightful and jolly hay-ride in honor of our new members. Our annual Christmas party at the home of Muriel Lomax was a grand success. The buffet supper at Mildred Russell's, when the celebrated Dianthian wedding took place, was crowded full of joy. During our summer meetings we enjoyed many hours, sewing and working for our French orphan.

Dianthian has always had a goodly number of names on the honor list, and this year has been no exception. We have always been prominent in the various activities of Central, and this year we shall be represented at the Maryville Declamation contest.

For all we have gained, we are indebted to the guidance and kindly advice of our directress, Miss Edith Moss Rhoades.

Dolad Nun

"Think Logically and Speak Correctly"

IT has been the intention of the Dolad Nun this year to surpass all previous records. We have surpassed the records of previous years by promoting true friendship among our members. Although we have not carried off any of the trophies this year, we have gained things which are equally as good.

The Dolad Nun tried in every way to live up to the standards set for them by the former members. This society has done their best in every thing that they have undertaken; have upheld the good name of the society throughout the year, never failing in their loyalty to the school.

There is no factor of the society that has contributed more toward the work and development than that of our efficient director, Mr. J. A. Faris. Through his guidance the society progressed more and more throughout the year. He has given us advice that has brought us out of many difficulties and has taken an active part in all of our work.

In this time of bloodshed and struggle the Dolad Nun has contributed liberally to everything that has been put before them. Members of the Dolad Nun have helped our country by buying Liberty Bonds and in many other ways.

We appreciate the help that the graduating members have given us and all that they have done in promoting literary and social events of the year. We know that these fine fellows will make a good showing for themselves when they go out from good old CENTRAL.

IN the days of 1916 when Nature arrayed herself in a charming combination of blue and gold, Hypatia, the Goddess of Wisdom, whispered softly to a number of girls, "You have forgotten me." But they had not forgotten her and they accordingly dedicated a society to the pursuit of knowledge, naming it the Hypatian Literary Society in honor of the goddess. Since the path of knowledge is one beset with thorns and pitfalls, the little band of girls chose "To the stars thru difficulty" as their motto.

The Hypatians sally forth like brave knights of old, resolved to attain greater wisdom and learning. Enlisted in the cause of Hypatia they struggle persistently onward, encountering and overcoming the dragons of Discouragement, Carelessness and Wounded Pride. Their hopes aspire to the high stars of wisdom and they advance steadily forward step by step in the great battle for the mastery of the arts of Hypatia. They gallantly held their own in the contest for the loving cup, which was to be held by the society making the highest record. According to the last reports the Hypatians are now the holders of the cup.

There are not confirmed Blue Stockings as one might suppose, judging from the above remarks. On the other hand they take an interest in all vital community and national affairs. Their programs this semester have consisted of literary and current topics. Besides being interested in literature and up-to-date affairs they are patriotic to the bone. The money which they formerly intended to use to cover the expense of having their society picture placed in "The Annual" has been turned over to the Red Cross. This was not considered as a sacrifice but as an honor by them; they love their country like all true Americans; they will serve her faithfully and unquestionably to the end, for they have a clear conception of the principles and the worth of America.

Olympian

DESPITE all the ups and downs of life, the Olympian Literary Society has just completed the third year of a prosperous existence. In the early part of this year we suffered a misfortune in the loss of one of our directresses, Miss Viola June Crossland, who was called home on account of the illness of her father. However, Miss Moulton has taken up the supervision of our organization, and under her direction we have gained much valuable information.

We girls have certainly enjoyed some interesting programs this year. Those most vivid in our memory were an illustrated lecture on the National Parks of America, a discussion on the life and works of Eugene Field and a study of two of the world's great operas, "Madame Butterfly" and Goethe's "Faust." We have also spent a considerable amount of time, drilling on extemporaneous speaking, so next year we hope to have a representative in that contest.

As, "Too much work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," we, Olympian girls, have seen to it that no such calamity shall happen in our case. As a preventive we were delighted with a rollicking good time at our Kid Party, given at the home of Mova Linn, and also with a surprise Hoover luncheon for our new members, at which time Miss Moulton displayed marked ability as a most congenial hostess.

We would like to extend to our sister and brother societies one farewell wish and that is that they may have experienced as happy and as advantageous a year as we have.

Philomathian

ANOTHER successful year has passed for the Philomathians. The miscellaneous programs given were very interesting and educational. Among some of the subjects studied were music, Chinaware, rugs, great men, and Red Cross work. One of the most interesting programs this year was one where each girl made up a verse telling how she earned her money for the Red Cross. Helen Peck was honored with having the best poem.

The social times will be remembered very clearly by the Philomathian girls. We had an outing for the new members at the beginning of the year. A gathering given at school was enjoyed by everyone. Our "big party," given early in the spring, was certainly enjoyed by everyone.

In the mind of every member will remain the memory of Miss Porter because the success of our society has been due to her untiring efforts.

Central High School Orchestra

THE orchestra has for years been a successful organization but this year has proved to be one of the most successful that it has ever known. Never before has any one body seen so much in demand. Each Friday morning finds us in our seats in assembly, ready to play the march and accompany the school in "Star Spangled Banner."

Even though we practiced where we couldn't distinguish the playing from the echoes, in the gymnasium, under the patient, cheerful leadership of Mr. Maupin we have come out successfully.

We tried something new this year which proved very popular. We showed that our talents lay not only in playing but in singing as well. "Giddy-gid-dap" and "Circus Day" are evidences of this.

We have played for the all-school play, the Junior, Agathia and Clio Plays, for the Press Club luncheon at the Robidoux, at the Francis Street Methodist Church, and Lafayette High School, and our engagement book was full all year. Our crowning feature, however, was the concert, given in our auditorium in March. We took in $43.30 which we donated to the Junior Red Cross.

Our officers are: President, Donald Wyatt; Secretary, Ethel Nelson; Treasurer, Howard Brown.

We will miss our loyal Seniors but hope that the oncoming Sophomores will take their places.

Central High School Band

LAST year an experiment was tried at Central High School. The result of that experiment is the present High School Band. The first rehearsal of the band was attended by about five fellows; the present enrollment of 30 pieces is a mark of the progress of this organization.

During the past year the band has made many successful appearances at the assembly meetings. One of the greatest services the band has rendered has been its hearty support of all athletic events. No matter how dreary the sky or how keen the wind the band has always been present at the football games helping the team maintain the glory of the Blue and White. Be the call when it may the band never fails. It is one of the important links in the chain of Central's spirit.

In the different parades of the year the high school band has taken an active part and at the Maryville Meet it will do its share to uphold and further Central's honor.

The following, under the very able leadership of Mr. W. C. Maupin, are the members of the band: Ralph Bradley, Howard Brown, Pryor Fallis, Jack Gross, Fred K. Hahig, Paul Hoover, Alonzo Hamilton, Lester Martin, Marion Owens, Tod Pumphry, Max Rankin, Fritz Schroeder, Earl Whitsell, Tom Myers, Jimmie Sells, Kendle Russ, Charles Thomas, Norton Wheeler.

THE Glee Clubs, often working in union, have always responded heartily to every call of school and country. Each club has about fifty members, and, judging by the splendid work they have done, every one is a worker. In the first semester of this year, during the Second Liberty Loan drive, the Girls' Glee Club gave a concert in the school auditorium and with the proceeds bought a Liberty Bond. Soon afterwards the girls donated ten dollars to the Red Triangle Fund and also presented a large American flag to the school.

Both clubs have spread the fame of Central by their work in functions outside of school. They added much to the program at the opening of the Lafayette High School by their songs. On Christmas eve the two clubs sang Christmas carols in the down town district for the benefit of the Red Cross. All through the year the clubs have sung at numerous patriotic meetings. During the patriotic song week their services were much in demand. They sang patriotic numbers at various stores and on one evening of the same week sang in all the theaters of St. Joseph. At the Spring Festival the Girls' Glee Club sang with the Glee Clubs of the other High Schools at the auditorium and the Boys' Glee Club sang with the adult chorus.

Out of the Girls' and Boys' Glee Clubs the Girls' Octet and the Boys' Octet were selected which represented Central at Maryville.

It is owing to the skillful direction of Miss Sanford that the Glee Clubs rank among our most important organizations. Nothing has ever been too hard work, time has never been too precious for her to devote some of it to teaching and helping the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs of Central.

The All-School Play

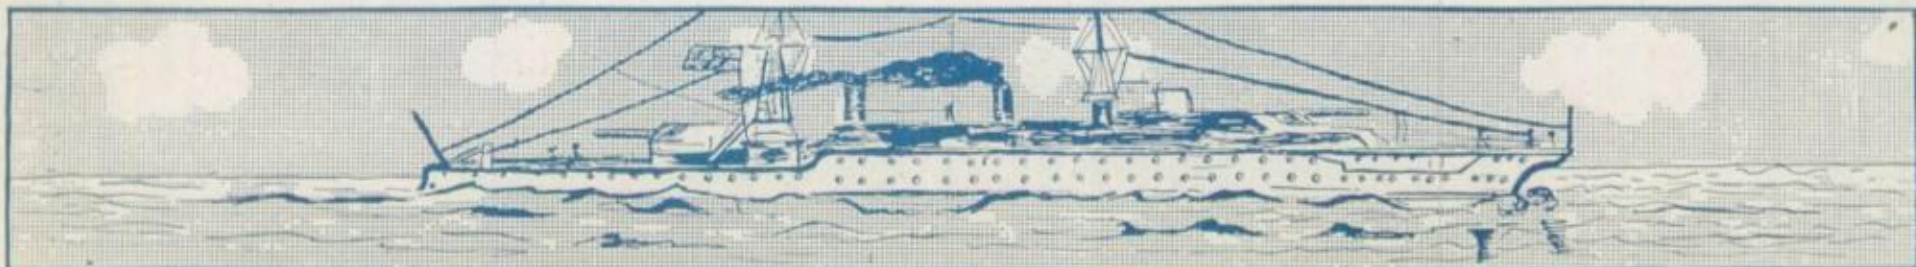

THE all-school dramatic presentation on December 13 consisted of three short plays, "The Maker of Dreams," "Allison's Lad," and "The Green Coat." "The Maker of Dreams," by Dowd, is a story of the tangled love affair of dainty and charming Pierrette and her lover, Pierrot. Mary Stauber in the part of Pierrette entered remarkably well into the character of the graceful little dancer. Pierrot, the matter-of-fact singer, who can not realize the love which Pierrette feels for him, was realistically played by Dorothy Culkin. The love affair is entangled by the Maker of Dreams, Ruth Ott. The scenery was novel and extremely artistic in black and white.

"Allison's Lad," a military play of Cromwell's time, dealt with the Cavaliers and Roundheads of England during the Seventeenth Century. The scene took place in early morning in an inn of an old English town, where the Cavaliers were held captives by the Roundheads. George Trapp's voice and his histrionic ability had full scope in the character of Allison's Lad. The Colonel was well portrayed by Sheridan Logan. Pryor Fallis as Lieutenant Goring, Vernon Grief as Francis Nopton, Ned Hill as Captain Bowyer, Donald Mumford as Colonel Drumond, helped make the play the success that it was.

As an offset to the effect of the two serious plays, "The Green Coat," a light comedy of the struggle of two poverty-stricken people, was presented. Marvin Rapp had the part of Henri, an artist, and the role of his friend was taken by Eugene Baum, who with his unconscious comic effects and naive manner was one of the most entertaining to the audience. Earl Whitsell as Minius, a second-hand clothing dealer, was one of the funniest characters of the play. Mildred Owens added to the play by her talent in acting the part of a seamstress.

The plays were an all-around success and the entire production with its portrayal of the characters was one of the triumphs of Miss Sheets' directing.

"We Will Draw the Curtain and Show You the Picture."

The Ciceronian Minstrels

ALTHOUGH the Ciceronian Society was not permitted to present a play this year, they more than kept up their reputation by the presentation of a Minstrel Show in the auditorium on February 8. The show was given complimentary to the school.

The first part was a regular, old-time minstrel. Mr. John Hall as interlocutor, was excellent, as were the screamingly funny end men, Clyde Farrell, Watson Guile, Jason Bealls and Arthur Winters. The act opened with the singing of "Over There" by the chorus. This was followed by "It's a Long Way to Berlin," sung by George Clapp. Watson Guile sang "Li'l Liza Jane"; Raymond Woodside gave "Where Do We Go From Here?" and Jason Bealls sang "In Her Little Cottage Pudding by the Sea." The act closed by the singing of "Goodbye, Broadway, Hello, France," by Dudley Jessopp, and "You're a Grand Old Flag," by the chorus. During the closing chorus the lights were all turned out and the curtains at the back of the stage were pulled apart, showing the Stars and Stripes.

Between the first and second parts a very comical dialogue was given by Guile and Farrell.

The settings, especially that of the second part, were a feature of the performance. They were both artistic and beautiful.

We are greatly indebted to Miss Anna Jensen and Mr. L. E. Thatcher for the success of the minstrel.

Clio Plays

THIS year, on April 13, the Clio Literary Society put on two comedies, "A Bit of Nonsense" and "The First Assignment." The comedy of the first consists in the recitation of Shakespeare in mock fashion by boarding school girls who have been left in charge of a substitute; the second consists of the assignment of a young reporter to cover a reception where the guest of honor does not appear, and the role is assumed by the reporter.

The casts of these plays are:

A special feature of this play was the violin solo by Mildred Pitts, an alumna, which pleased the audience very much. During the play Central orchestra played with its usual excellence under the direction of W. C. Maupin. Between the two plays five girls sang songs and played their ukuleles. These girls were: Helen Bernard, Leta Jackson, Mildred Peterson, Janet Garlich, Mamie Strop. Another number on the between-act program was a four-minute speech by Sheridan Logan.

The plays were produced under the able direction of Miss Mary E. B. Neely, Clio directress, and Miss Mary Garlich and Miss Roberta Sheets.

The Junior Play

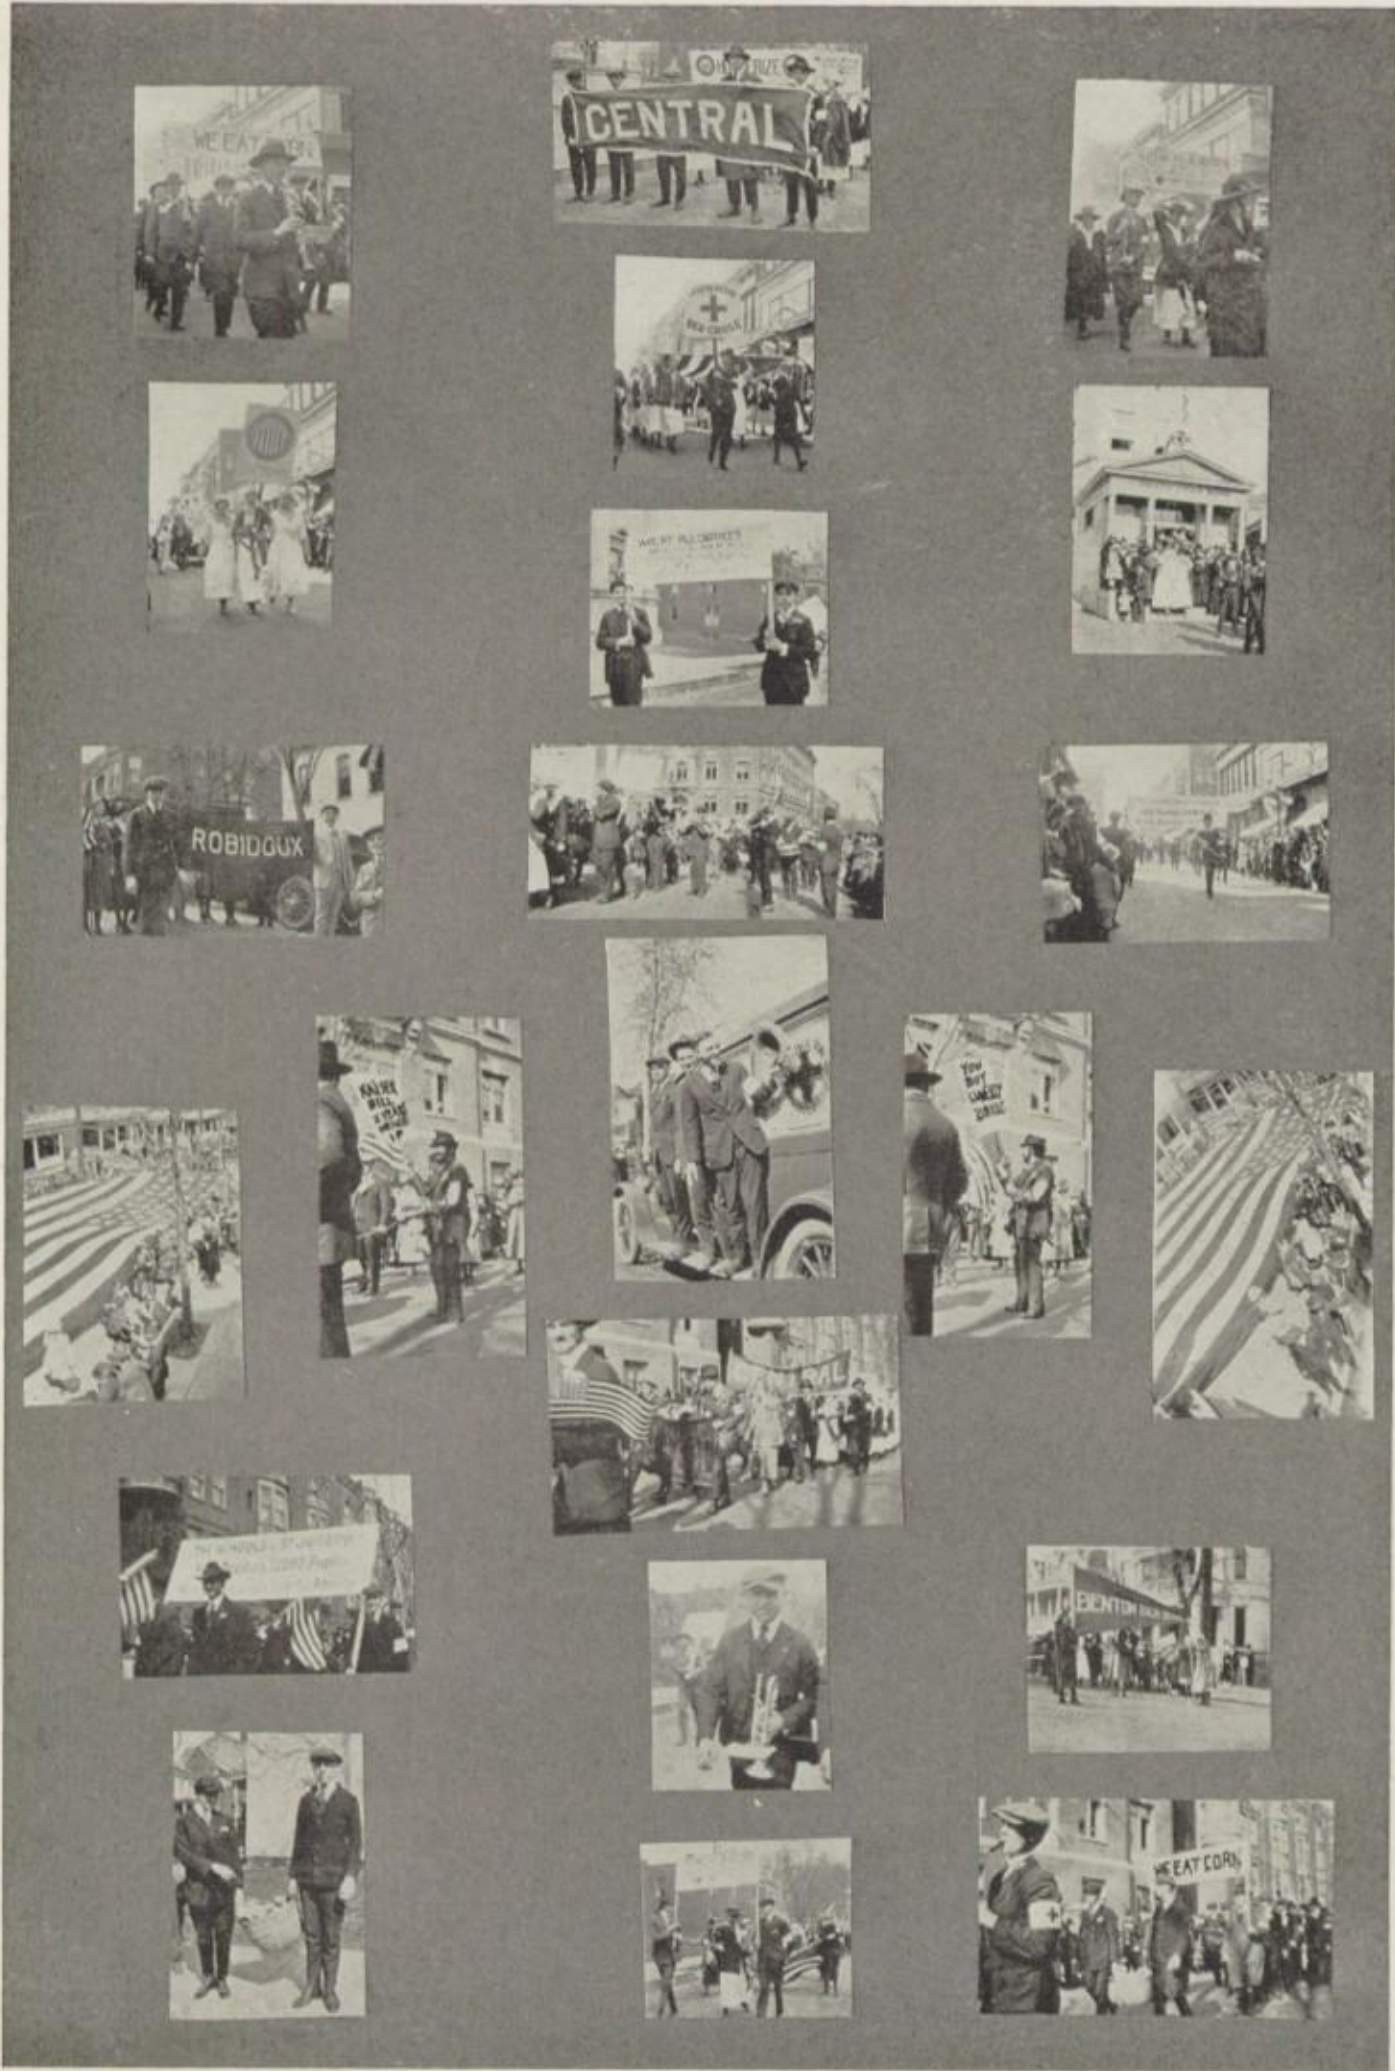

THE Merchant of Venice Up-to-Date was presented by the Juniors, Friday night, April 15. Nineteen nineteen is the first class to set the precedent of giving a play in the junior year. The play was a great success and netted one hundred dollars. In order to gain the hand of Portia, Bassanio had to pass a Latin examination, and as his "talents lay in other directions," he had his friend, Antonio, rent a pony from Shylock, who kept them for football heroes. If the pony was not returned within a certain time, Shylock was to have a pound of Antonio's hair, "nearest the brain." Bassanio passed the examination, but forgot to return the pony. Matters came to a climax when, just before the big Omaha game, Shylock demanded the pound of hair, knowing that Central depended upon Antonio for the victory. Clever Portia came to the rescue by having a learned doctor show that Antonio had no brain and since he had no brain, Shylock could not have the hair "nearest the brain."

Our Service Flag

THE visible stars on the Service Flag of Central High School are thirty-one; the invisible, no one knows, for Central has graduates or former students in the Army and Navy who were in school here as far back as 1880. All of our boys from the Class of 1905 to the Class of 1915 are Draft Age and many of the 1916 and 1917 Classes have gone to the aid of the Country. These have gone from other institutions of learning or business, but they are Central's and it is to them as well as to the boys that have gone from this building that this page is sacred, and it is to them that this book is dedicated. Whether the stars be blue, or invisible, or gold, they represent Central's Loyal Sons in that Army and Navy of "Better Men" who are going out to save humanity.

DIFFICULTY in securing a coach set a decided handicap on Central's football team early in the season. Lester Moyer, coach for five years, was called in St. Joseph's first draft quota early in September. For several weeks the loyal squad of athletes took their workouts each afternoon under the leadership of Ben Symon, captain of the eleven. Then Robert Pfohl, a coach from South Dakota, was secured, but he stayed at Central only a few days and then for some unaccountable reason he went back home. Another two weeks the squad went without a coach, while Symon began to make his own plays.

Finally Coach Dittmore came to stay, and began to put the boys in shape for the first game, which was to be played soon. Dittmore's favorite method of gaining ground was the forward passing and aerial football. When the team got this type down right it seemed particularly effective for the season.

As in former years, the first game was with the Alumni eleven, and the Blue and White beat them in a hard fought game, 17 to 0.

Leavenworth came for the second game, but they were easy for Central and we tagged them with a 37 to 7 defeat. The boys were fast getting into shape.

Rather confident of victory, Central took her first road trip to Trenton. The Blue and White had the game won in the first half but slowed up in the last period and Trenton slipped up and scored a victory of a one point margin, 35 to 34.

Just to show they weren't on the downward path on account of the Trenton loss, Central took the next game from Kansas City High School on the local field by the score of 12 to 6. The game was fast and hard fought, but Central outplayed the visitors.

Luck was all wrong for the second next game when Central played Topeka on her field. The team was crippled with Whitehead and Woodside, star ends, out of the game. Nevertheless it was a hot fought game and Central lost only by a margin of a place kick, the only score made in the game. The entire second team was taken with the first team on this road trip. Koch changed to end in this game and showed up well in pass catching, while Spofford played a good game at center in place of Koch.

The big game of the year was played on Thanksgiving day with our old-time rival, Omaha, on our own gridiron. The Omaha team had been playing in whirlwind style all season and had a record of not allowing one touchdown to be scored off them during the whole season. Central was playing at her best, but even at that the Nebraska boys outclassed the Blue and White and won 21 to 6. It was conceded that Central did well to hold them to three touchdowns. This game closed the pig-skin season.

CENTRAL'S basketball team, which closed the season March 23 with a record of nine games won and six lost, brought the light of victory to another department of Central's athletics. Central has this season met some of the best basketball teams in the Missouri Valley, and near the close of the season was within one game's reach for the valley title. The Blue and White Tossers brought the title of "City High Basketball Championship" to Central by beating Benton two straight games. They lost the championship of the city by a narrow margin when the Olive Streets took a slow game from them near the close of the season.

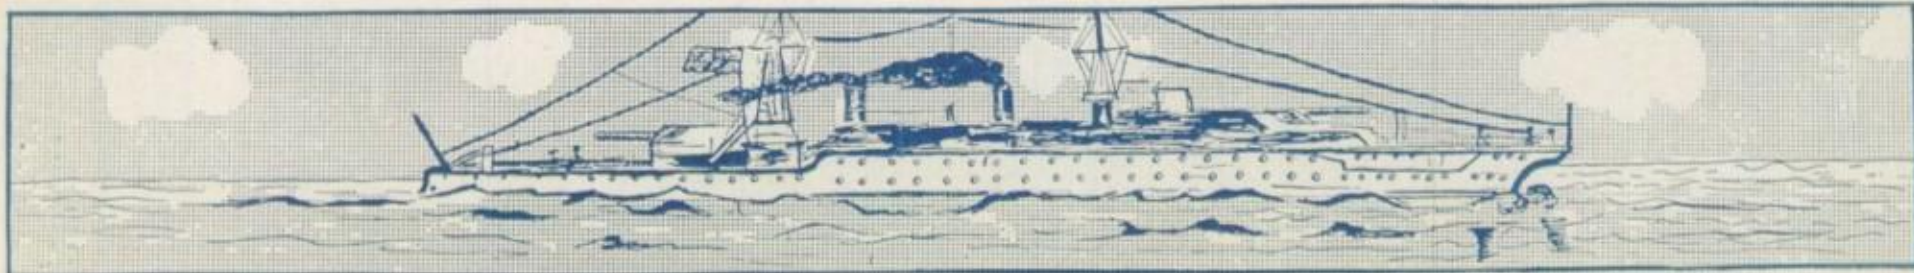

When the season opened a strong squad of alumni players beat Central in the first game 57 to 42. The team was yet green and the men were new. The game was rather slow and draggy.

Warrensburg Training School came to St. Joseph for the next game and defeated the Blue and White 46 to 37. The local boys hadn't hit their proper stride yet, while Warrensburg was going good.

Leavenworth was the first to fall a victim of Central's fast teamwork, which was beginning to manifest itself about this time. Central won this game, the first victory of the season, on the Central court, 30 to 23.

Coach Dittmore then took his men on the first road trip of the season, playing two games, winning one and losing the other. Independence High School was the victim of Central's five, 76 to 14, but Warrensburg still had the combination and won the next night, 51 to 36.

Another road trip was in order for the next week end, but this time Central annexed two. New Hampton was the first to fall, 37 to 13. The next night King City lost to the Blue and White, 53 to 17. The New Hampton game set the dope favorable for the on-coming Central-Benton series.

The first game of the Benton series was one of the best seen on the Central court. With the South End boys fighting bravely, Central downed them 43 to 25 in a fast and a decisive game.

Omaha was the next victim that brought joy to Central rooters. Thirty-three to twenty-four is the way we fixed the Nebraska boys just to show them we outclassed them on the court as well as in debating. The game was played on the Central court.

Independence went home from St. Joseph with the next game of the season, leaving Central the victor 44 to 33. The down river boys showed up better than in the former game with Central.

A road trip into Nebraska the next week-end broke even for Central's quintet. The Blue and White players beat University High 18 to 12 on Friday night, while the next evening Lincoln High walloped Central 39 to 18.

The second game with Benton was then due. It was a close game played on the South Side court, but the uptown boys won, 28 to 31.

The last road trip of the season resulted disastrously for our old rival Omaha won, 35 to 26.

The Olive Streets wanted to be sure they were the champions of the city, so they beat Central in the last game of the season, 44 to 37.

Results give Central a total of 559 points, while her opponents had only 429.

THE year 1918 looks out upon one of the best-balanced track teams in the history of Central. Handicapped from the start by a short training season and a lack of experienced material, Coach Dittemore, with the aid of Captain Petrikowski, has whipped into shape a fast bunch of men who ran away with all Maryville honors, winning eleven firsts, two seconds and a third in class A. Teams in former years have had two or three stars who carried off most of the points, but this year's track team was well balanced, every man winning points for the school. The relay team, composed of Nichols, Petrikowski, Whitehead, and Watson, captured the cup as usual, and added another piece of silver to Central's collection in the trophy case.

C. C. Watson was the individual high-point winner of Class A, taking four firsts. Captain Petrikowski showed his mastery of distance runs, and finished first in the 440-yard dash and the half-mile. George Murphy, Jr., came within $\frac{1}{4}$ inch of the conference record in the high jump, skimming over the bamboo at 5 feet, 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches. This is a new Central record. Nichols, a Freshman, won the 220-yard low hurdles. This boy will undoubtedly be Central's speed king in the coming years. Grauer and Bealls won firsts in the discus throw and shot-put.

The Maryville summary is:

100-yard dash—Watson, Central, first; Winn, Chillicothe, second; Alan, Maryville, third. Time, 11 seconds flat.

120-yard high hurdles—Howery, Bethany, first; Bealls, Central, second; Miller, Maryville, third; Taylor, Chillicothe, fourth. Time, 18 2-5 seconds.

220-yard dash—Watson, Central, first; Winn, Chillicothe, second; Davenport, Maryville, third; Howery, Bethany, fourth. Time, 24 3-5 seconds.

Half-mile run—Petrikowski, Central, first; Linthacum, Bethany, second; Jordan, Chillicothe, third; Price, Maryville, fourth. Time, 2 minutes 17 2-5 seconds.

220-yard low hurdles—Nichols, Central, first; Winn, Chillicothe, second; Price, Maryville, third; Hawery, Bethany, fourth. Time, 24 3-5 seconds.

440-yard dash—Petrikowski, Central, first; Davenport, Maryville, second; Watson, Chillicothe, third. Time, 59 4-5 seconds.

Relay race—Central, first; Maryville, second; Chillicothe third. Time, 1 minute 48 seconds.

Pole vault—Yehle, Maryville, first; Taylor, Chillicothe, second; Nichols, Central, third. Height, 8 feet 1 inch.

Shot-put—Bealls, Central, first; Barlow, Bethany, second; Taylor, Chillicothe, third; McPherson, Maryville, fourth. Distance, 35 feet 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches.

Discus-throw—Grauer, Central, first; Barlow, Bethany, second; Foreman, Maryville, third; Taylor, Chillicothe, fourth. Distance, 88 feet 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches.

Running high jump—Murphy, Central, first; Yehle, Maryville, second; Taylor, Chillicothe, third. Height, 5 feet 6 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

Hop, step and jump—Yehle, Maryville, first; Murphy, Central, second; Taylor, Chillicothe, third. Distance, 41 feet 3 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches.

Running broad jump—Watson, Central, first; Yehle, Maryville, second; Howery, Bethany, third; Taylor, Chillicothe, fourth. Distance, 19 feet 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

Inter-Society and Inter-Class Games

THE interclass and the intersociety basketball games held this year at Central have proved directly and indirectly a beneficial factor in the athletic activities of the school for both this season and next. In addition to the good they have accomplished in developing the embryo athletes, the games have been well attended and characterized by a keen but good natured rivalry such as makes any contest or series of contests in the world of sports worthwhile.

In the interclass series the Sophomores upheld the title of interclass champions which they won last year as Freshmen. The team with one exception is the same that downed the crack Senior team for the title last year. From all appearances Central is going to have a winning team next year from the showing of these Sophomore basket tossers who annexed the class ribbon. The team is composed of Charles Henderson, Clarence Allen, George De Beaumont, Clifford Bowen, Robert Brown, Russell Hatfield and Orene Fellows, from which a similar line-up is picked for the fast High team of the city. It is of no use to try to tell who the stars of the series were. Everyone was demon on the court, tossing baskets at will and guarding almost perfectly. That is why they won, having no weak man and excellent well balanced teamwork developed.

The championship was decided by a final game between the Juniors and Sophomores, who had won two games each, the Seniors and Freshmen being victimized. The last game was one-sided, the Sophomores winning 51 to 16. The Juniors laid their defeat in the final game to the absence of Captain Winters from the lineup on that day.

For a brief summary of the series the results summed up as follows:

In the first game of the series, the Seniors were defeated by the Juniors by a score of 43 to 11. The Sophomores then took the next game from the Freshmen to the tune of 23 to 11. Following this game the Juniors won from the Freshmen and then the Sophomores evened things up by winning from the Seniors. The two losing teams were eliminated and the championship lay between the Sophomores and Juniors.

Four boys' literary societies of Central, Alpha Nu Pi, Aristotelian, Ciceronian and Dolad Nun, took part in the interclass intersociety basketball tournament. This series was the most interesting and hotly contested of the intra-school tournaments in athletics. Players on the varsity quintet were not allowed to represent their society in this series.

The intersociety games were well attended each afternoon, a number of femi-three games and losing none. This is the second time the Red and White five captured the title since the annual tournament was instituted last year. The team was composed of Captain Arthur Winters, Orene Fellows, Clifford Bowen, George De Beaumont, Harold Dort, John Hall, Earl Mueller and Ursus B. Gabbert.

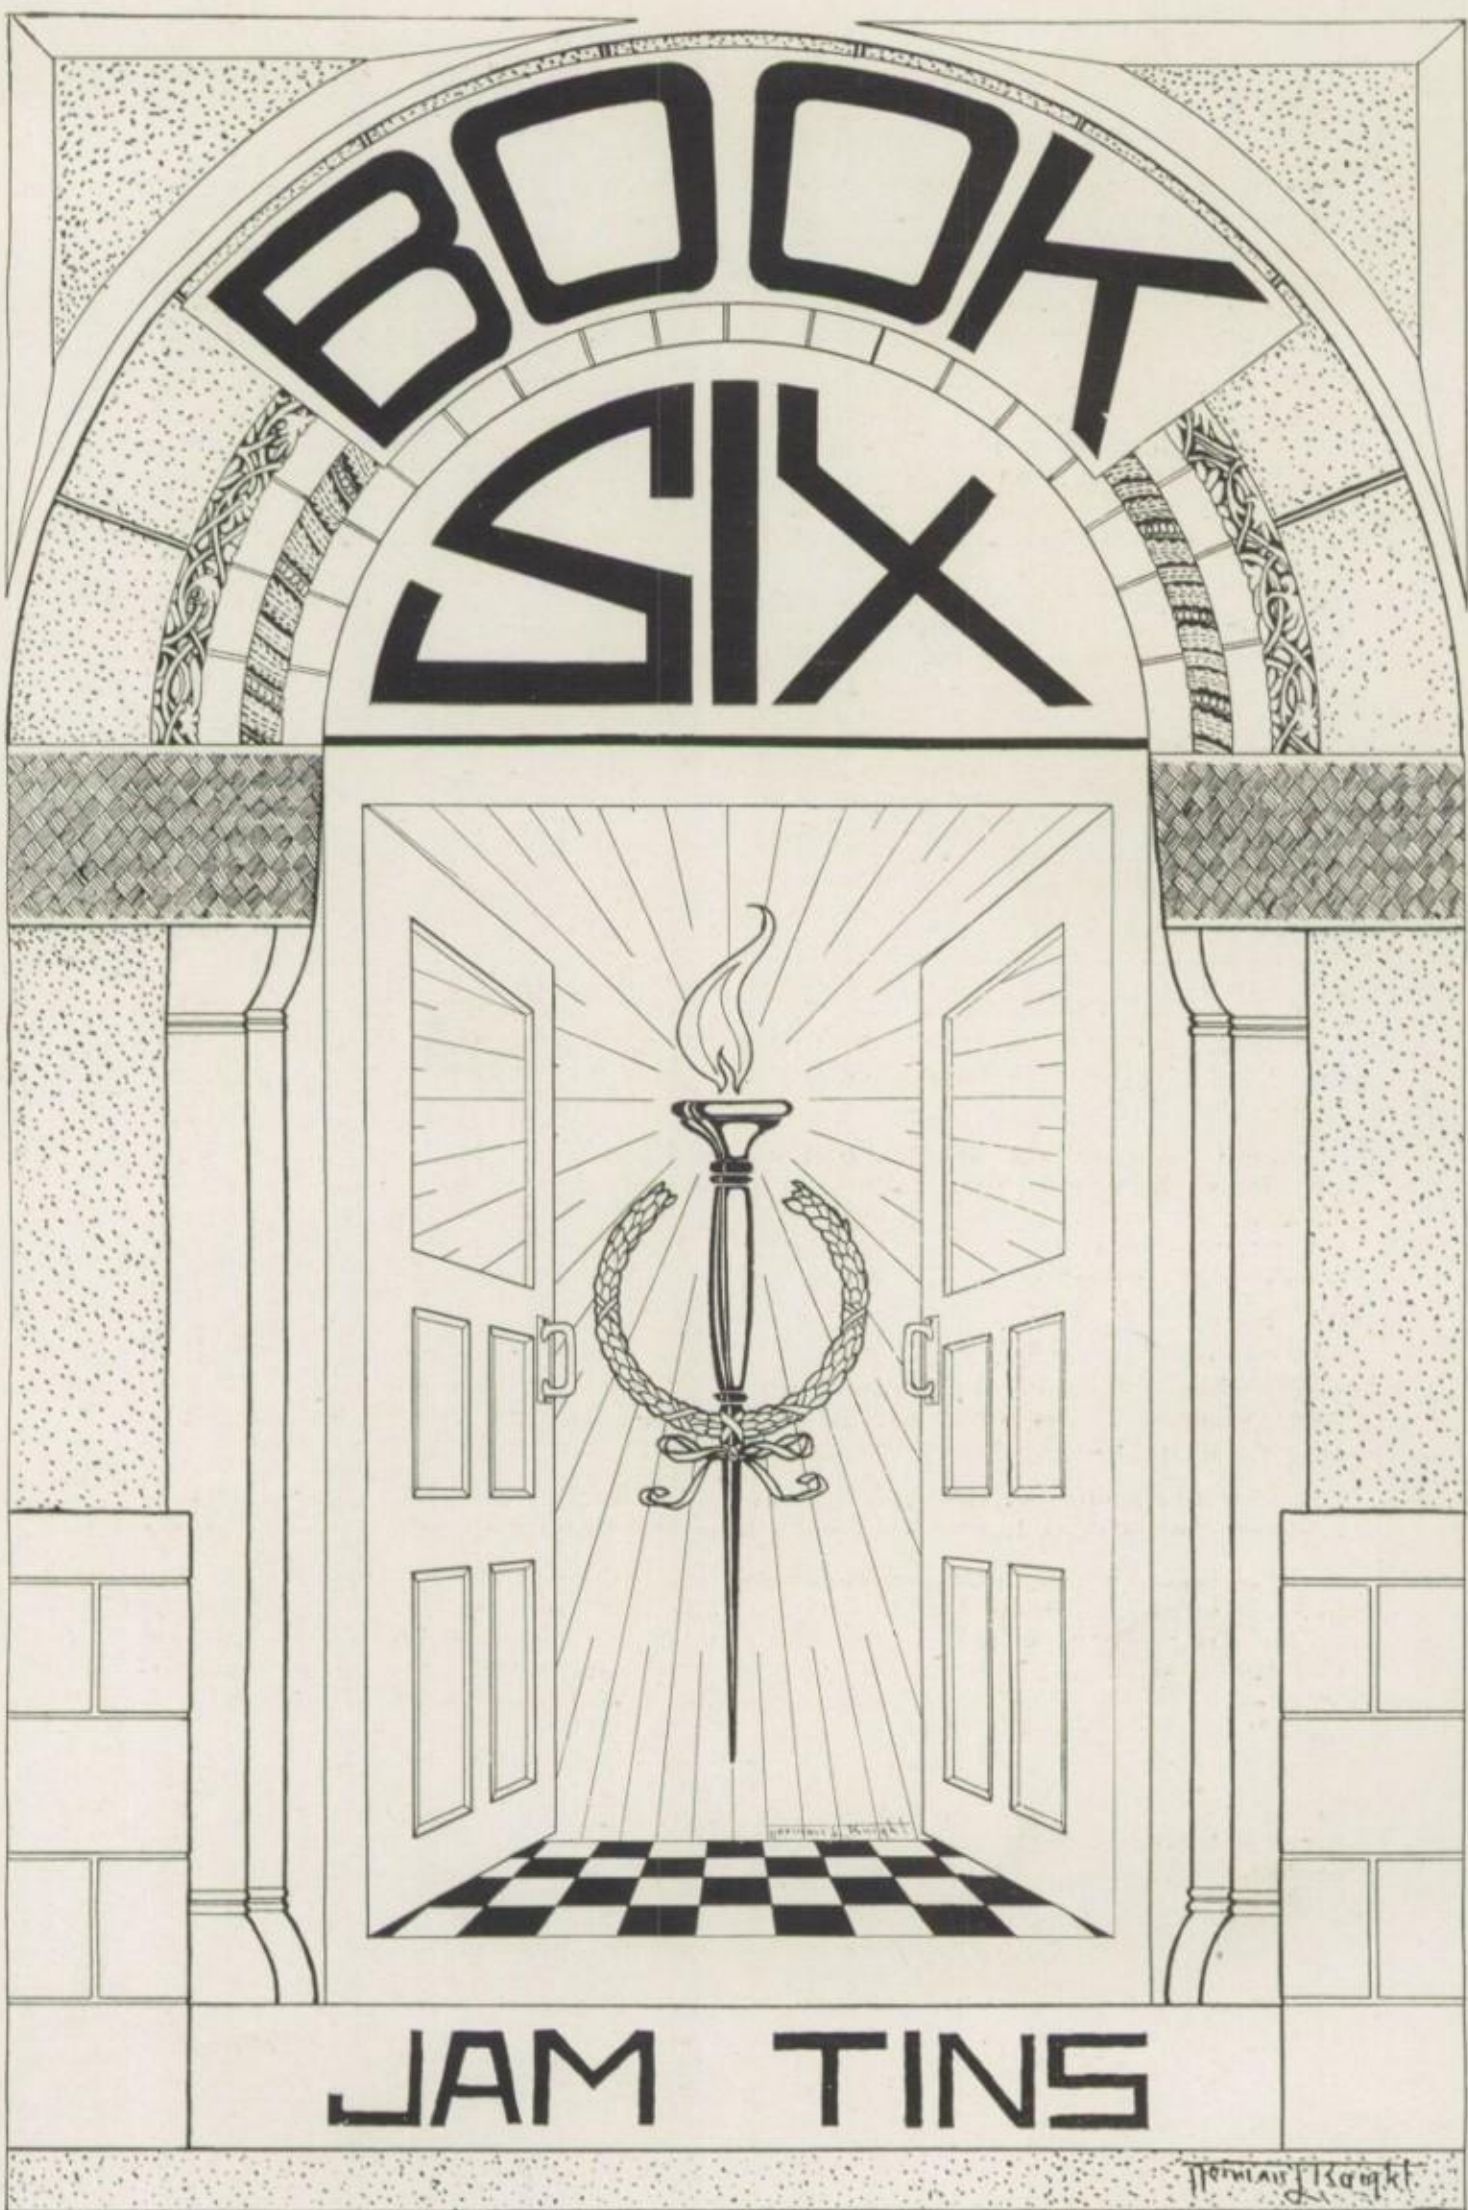

The intersociety games were well attended each afternoon, a number of feminine rooters appeared in the gym and backing their favorites very enthusiastically.

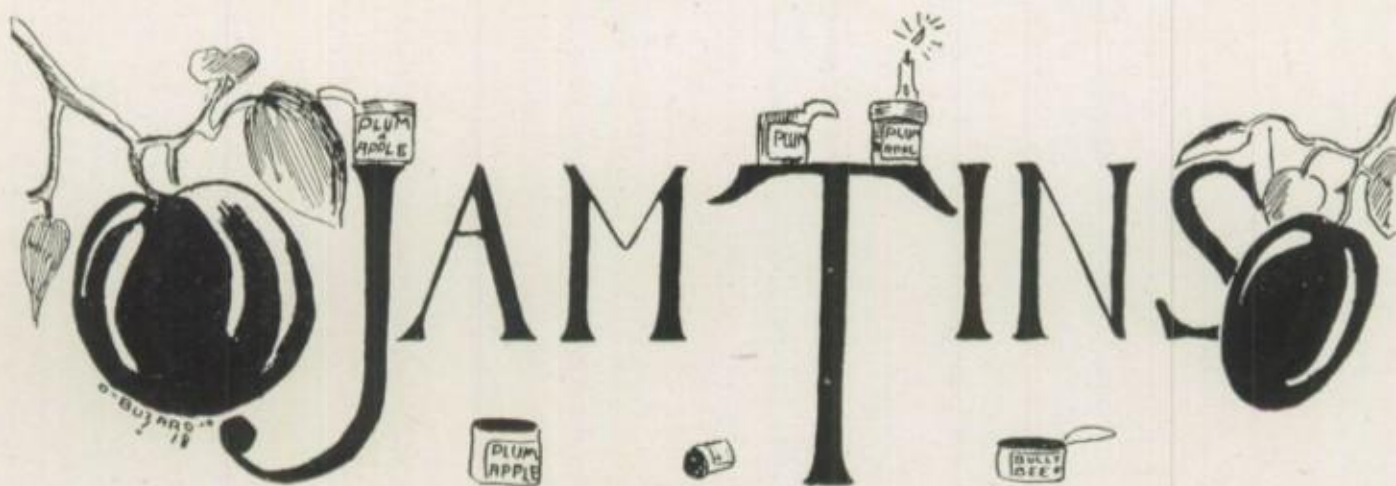

The first two games were scheduled for March 4. The Alpha Nu Pi team lost to the Aristotelians and the Ciceronians won from the Dolad Nuns. March 17 the Aristotelians won from the Dolad Nuns and the Ciceronians took another, this time from the Alpha Nu Pi. The championship then lay between the Aristotelians and the Ciceronians, while the Dolad Nuns and Alpha Nu Pis were to fight it out for the cellar title.

The deciding game was played on March 11. The game was hotly contested and marked by a show of spirited rivalry, but the Ciceronians outplayed their opponents and won, 33 to 18. Meanwhile the Alpha Nu Pi gave the D. N.'s a drubbing which sent them to the cellar with three lost and none won.

The Final Standing of the Teams

WHY do we call this Jam Tins? In order that the clamor of the uninitiated may be appeased, that the appetite of preying curiosity may be satisfied and that the general throng of the uncultured may not seek explanation in vain we hereby offer this treatise on why we christened this section such a "bally blommin' H'english name, don't you know?"

Now the commonplace jam tins that reside on the damp and dusty shelves at home most always contain jam. Jam is sweet, well and good, so were the contents of this section—before the war. But when only the tin remains—well we'll let Empty tell what we put in 'em:

Tommy would stoop down, get an empty jam tin, take a handful of clayey mud from the parapet and line the inside of the tin with this substance. Then he would reach over, pick up his detonator, and explosive, and insert them in the tin, the fuse protruding. On the fire step would be fragments of shell, shrapnel shell, bits of iron, nails, etc—anything that was hard enough to send over to Fritz; he would scoop up a handful of this junk and put it in the bomb.

Then the professor would take another handful of mud and fill the tin, after which he would punch a hole in the lid of the tin and put it over the top of the bomb, the fuse sticking out. Then perhaps he would tightly wrap wire around the outside of the tin and the bomb was ready to send over to Fritz with Tommy's compliments." So do not be surprised whether you get food or bombs from this section.

The censor tried to obliterate this part of our book but if you look carefully you too may read beneath the censor's stamp.

AN organization for the pursuit of happiness for the year of 1918. This club is one of the live wires of Central, pushing every good thing to a success. The club has enjoyed several good meetings, a conclave, fish fry, dance, hike and a party, and is now figuring on a chicken supper to end the 1918 season.

The officers of this organization wish to add that this organization is run in no way against the principles of Central. We encourage rather than discourage our members to uphold the ideals for which C. H. S. is famous.

"Not What They Seem."

The A. N. P. Dusty Nine

THE Dusty Nine, one of the most unique organizations of Central and an inner circle of Alpha Nu Pi, again made the trip to Maryville Track Meet this year. For the benefit of those that are not familiar with this organization a short explanation will not be amiss. The Dusty Nine was organized in 1914 under the leadership of such fellows as Floyd Sprague, "Dex" Whittinghill and Clive Newcombe. Its purpose was to walk to the annual Northwest Missouri Track Meet held at Maryville. The route via C. B. & Q. tracks from Savannah to Maryville is 39 long and weary miles. By this road, sundry small and interesting hamlets are touched. These in order are: Rosendale, Bolckow, Barnard, Bridgewater and Arkoe. But the greatest of these was Bridgewater and everyone of the enthusiastic pedestrians who walked last year will long remember this blooming metropolis.

As the name indicates, the membership of this organization is limited to nine. This year, however, because of the large number of candidates and because the alumni wished to disappoint no youthful aspirant, "for pedestorialistic" honors the bars and stringent restrictions were lifted and fifteen fellows were allowed to walk. Although the way was long, the ties hard, the burning cinders as hot as ever, all reached Maryville and joined in the final spurt to the station with all of the spirit in the world. Experience seems to show that the time of walking decreases every year. In '14, when the first Dusty Nine walked, the time was over ten hours. Last year the record of 9 hours and 10 minutes was made by Norman Schwein, Leonard Holland and Sheridan Logan. However, this record was equalled if not broken this year and the time of about nine hours flat was made. Although the peregrination this year was made by daylight, the trip was thoroughly enjoyable except for one sad feature. Elliott (Jit) Belden, our former and loquacious adviser, was detained in Topeka. Except for this, the conclave was a great success and only demonstrated that the fellows had enough persistency to come out and do their best.

The A. N. S. Always Ten (10)

THIS is an organization composed of ten (10) members all of whom must be Aristotelians. The main object of this organization is to walk to the track meet at Maryville, Mo., each year. No member will be allowed to take over ten dollars ($10) with him on the trip, and must not spend over one tenth (1-10) of the sum on any girl and will not be allowed to meet over ten (10) girls while in Maryville.

The trip must be made in not more than ten (10) hours and not over ten (10) miles of the trip shall be made on a train except the Savannah Interurban.

All members should be in bed by 10 o'clock while in Maryville and should not get up before 10 the next morning. No member shall pay for over (10) meals not to exceed ten cents (10c) for each meal. Not more than ten (10) of the members shall be kicked out of the Linville Hotel because they didn't know it was on the American plan.

The ten (10) members who walked and rode this year were: Leland Edwards, who rode from Arkoe on in; Mike Million, Red Hunt, who was kicked in the head by a mule when young and believes everything he reads in the "Outlook"; Earl Stuber, Weinie Watkins, Fuzzy Smith, who brought Watkin's baggage, Doc Cronkite, Falstaff Clary, Walt Bertrand, who tried to out-walk everybody else, and Cranston Dickey, who tried to sleep in a cow-barn.

The time which the trip was made stands at 7 hours, 35 minutes and 10 seconds.

Clary was elected President of the organization for the next year.

TO THE PARENTS OF THE GRADUATES OF 1918

President Wilson Says:

"I would particularly urge upon the young people who are leaving our high schools, that as many of them as can do so, avail themselves this year of the opportunities offered by the colleges and technical schools, to the end that the country may not lack an adequate supply of trained men and women."

We know that it is your desire to help the Government and to give to your sons and daughters the best possible preparation for life. The best authorities maintain that a college Education of at least two years is a prerequisite to specialization.

This training may now be had in the Saint Joseph Junior College. The work of the college is under the direct supervision of the Missouri University, and is accepted with full credit by every college and university in Missouri, and by Oberlin, Chicago, Kansas, Leland Stanford and every other institution to which application has been made.

Statistics show that the graduate of a Junior College is better prepared for specialization than is the student finishing the second year of an academic course in a university.

The classes in our Junior College are small, thereby assuring to each student careful individual attention. Graduates of this College have been able to go directly into the teaching profession, into the business world, and into the army. They have been prepared to pass the entrance examinations into the Officers Training School.

That you may render a valuable service to your Country, that your sons and daughters may receive a college education at home, that each student may receive as careful individual attention as is possible, we invite you to write or call upon PRINCIPAL M. C. PRUNTY at Central High School.

This space has been paid for by a St. Joseph citizen who is interested in furthering the interests of the St. Joseph Junior College.

Politeness

It was Christmas, and the military restrictions in the war zone in France were somewhat relaxed in honor of the day. The mayor of a little town near the front was making out a passport for a well dressed lady who had obtained permission to visit her husband in a field hospital near the trenches. In spite of a certain disfigurement the lady was vain of her appearance, and the mayor's politeness prompted him to gloss over the defect. After a moment's reflection he wrote: "Eyes—dark, beautiful, tender, expressive, but one of them missing."

A Mistake on Both Sides

An old gentleman on board one of the numerous steamers which ply between England and France missed his handkerchief, and accused a soldier standing by his side of stealing it, which the soldier, an Irishman, denied. Some few minutes afterward the gentleman found the missing article in his hat; he was then most profuse in his apologies to the soldier.

"Not another wurrd," said Pat; "it was a mistake on both sides—ye took me for a thafe, and I took ye for a gintlemon."

A Double Order

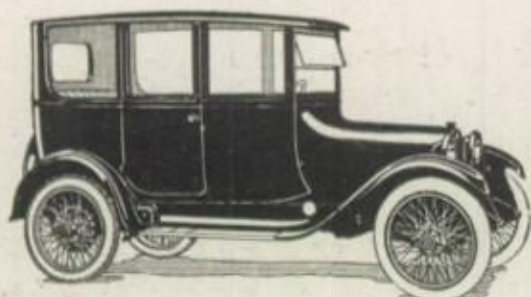

A small boy rushed into a drug store and excitedly called for some liniment and cement. When asked why he desired them both at once he said nervously:

"Pa hit Ma with a cup."

Mother—"I would have you know that my son is mathematically inclined."

Student—"I think that he was inclined a little too far and fell."

The Service, Efficiency, Economy and Safety of Electricity for the Home

LECTRICITY will make your home brighter and more cheerful. Electricity will rid your housework of its drudgery—make a pleasure of every household duty. Electricity will enable you to take advantage of a hundred and one time-saving, trouble-saving electrical home conveniences. (List on request.)

“DO IT ELECTRICALLY”

You can clean your home thoroughly with electricity—rugs, curtains, everything. You can cook anything with electricity—from after-theatre rarebits to a full course dinner. You can iron with electricity—in the house—on the porch—it saves steps. You can wash with electricity—the most delicate laces—the heaviest blankets. You can sew with electricity for hours without tiring. You can do almost anything about the house with electricity, and do it better, quicker, infinitely more easily and more economically.

If you will give thought to what electricity will do for your home, you will no longer be without it. It is a mistake to think that electricity is expensive. Electricity is a wonderfully low-priced servant that stands ready to serve you any hour of the day or night.

Missouri River Epitaphs 2018 A. D.

Sheridan Logan has ceased to grow,
And o'er his grave the soft winds blow,
And up above he now is found
With female angels all around.

Gladys Holland's now at rest,
To be a Minerva she tried her best;
The bonds of wisdom, "he" broke from above,
And Venus dubbed her, Goddess of Love.

Earl Whitsell now has gone to bed,
This monument now marks his head;
Methinks he may have gone to glory,
He starved to death on oratory.

Here lies Jim Reynolds 'neath the dirt,
He thought that he was quite a flirt;
He may be happy, glad to tell,
Or else he's hot, um, ah, o, well.

Ted Packwood's in cahoots with haunts,
With them he now takes midnight jaunts;
About the streets of Topeka town
His shade has now gained great renown.

Dog Wallace's self lies sleeping here,
Proclaimed by many as 'Such a dear;'
Full oft he spat of 'Old Brown's Mule,'
While he was dozing around the school.

Helen Crane lies 'neath this mound,
C. C.'s thoughts of her abound,
For ne'er was there a love so great
As this romance which them did mate.

Here bleach the bones of Deacon Hall,
To the narrow path he heard the call;
In the Y. M. C. A. he was a pillar,
Out of office hours, a lady-killer.

Frances Weller lies in this grave,
None but the fair deserve the brave;
Her looks we claim, none could surpass,
For she was the beauty of our class.

This grave holds Watkin's skeleton,
Somewhere unknown he was goin';
This grave to all the proof doth bear,
That where it was he ne'er got there.

Morgan Paschal lies in state,
All his success he owed to fate;
It was his wish to run the school,
But to this one, the world was cruel.

Pauline Rositsky rests on this bier,
On her departure one shed one tear;
The clothes she wore were up-to-date,
But of their briefness—need we state?

Here lies H. Forgrave beneath the grass,
His greatest sin—well, it wasn't brass;
And this is why he ceased to tarry,
He fell in love and then did marry.

Jason Bealls here doth lie,
Methinks his soul is now on high,
Miss Moulton had him in her class,
But of his 'rep,' oh, oh, alas.

Dorothy Culkin here doth rest,
As an actress she did her best;
For many a tie in Central days,
She acted her parts in charming ways.

Here lies the brilliant Jeanne White,
Of her class she was the bright shining light;
Her dignity was greatly admired by all,
As she comely and coldly walked thru the hall.

The high road, the low road, the road that leads away
To blossomed fields of mem'ry where our sweetest fancies play;
The road that leads to woodlands and beside a singing brook
That mirrors pictures of us as we used to be and look.

The high road, the low road, the road that twists and bends
And leads beyond the city where all sordid striving ends—
That takes us back to childhood by the paths we loved to roam,
Where those who love us for us wait to bid us
"welcome home."

The high road, the low road, the road apast the mill,
That leads to vales of mem'ry where it's all so sweet and still,
Where every recollection is a vision wondrous fair—
The road that's best to travel is the road that takes us there.

—John D. Wells, in Buffalo News.

WHATEVER your chosen profession, the quickest way to success lies through capital and credit. Everywhere you hear discouraged men and women saying: "If I had only started at the beginning and saved systematically I should have been independent by now." They have the brains, they have the ambition, they have the ability, but they have not the CAPITAL and CREDIT. An account at the

FIRST OF ALL—RELIABILITY

Greetings to the Distinguished Class of '18

YOU have gone "over the top" in your school work, and are now about to enter the broad highways of life and take up its more practical tasks.

No matter what your future position or occupation in life may be, if you continue to live in St. Joseph, you will continue to need this store and this store will continue to need you and be helpful to you in its merchandise and its service.

Many of you have been brought up to regard this store for the supply of your material needs much the same as you have your church as pertains to your religious welfare, and as it has never failed you in the past, so it will continue to serve you faithfully in the future.

The future beckons you. Opportunity is at your door. May you improve it in the fullest measure.

You can rely on us to help you, for we know by experience just what you need. You may go just anywhere if you are satisfied with just anything; but if you are particular, come to us, for we stand in readiness to give you the best of everything at the fairest of prices.

Profit by the experience and judgment of your parents and grandparents, and continue to make this "your store" in the future as they have done in the past.

M. Houk beneath this mound doth waste,
Her life was a mad 'dash-all-down' race.
For fame she tramped the stony trail,
For she lies here cold and pale.

Here lies the one they hailed as 'Pet,'
On him full oft the fans did bet;
His prowess was shown as an athlete,
But as for girls—Dare we repeat?

"Glad" Webster lies beneath the stone,
A hank o' hair, a rag, a bone;
Her feet no longer tread the sward,
Her ghost's the most popular in the yard.

Here lies the lean and hungry "Walt,"
To Senior Girls he had one hugs fault;
For when to a party he did go,
A baby doll he had in tow.

'Neath this granite slab, "Meb" Hawkins rests,
For whatever was right, she boosted her best,
For members for Hi-y she scoured the halls,
And even here her spirit calls.

Tina Mehrtens sleeps in peace,
In our hearts she held a lifetime lease.
In Agathia meetings she held her sway,
Her smile each enemy did slay.

Wanted It Worth While

A passer-by was amazed to see an Irishman poking a dollar bill through the crack of a board walk.

"What are you doing that for?" said he.

"Shure," said the Irishman, "I dropped a nickel down there and I want to make it worth me while to rip up the walk."

For Central's Conceited Ones

It was during the nerve-racking period of waiting for the signal to attack that a seasoned old sergeant noticed a young soldier fresh from home visibly affected by the nearness of the coming fight. His face was pale, his teeth chattering, and his knees tried to touch each other. It was sheer nervousness, but the sergeant thought it was sheer fun.

JUST THE THING

The musical boy or girl is never left out. They are bright, keen, up-to-date. Music brings refinement of intellect, softens the temperament and helps to mold character.

Thousands of young boys and girls are being trained on Pianos purchased of Olney Music Company. The Smith & Barnes Piano is the most perfectly balanced combination of moderate price and high quality on the market today. It is the product of a famous factory, whose motto is "Pianos of Character." In design, construction and tone the Smith & Barnes will please the most critical. $10 will place one of these Pianos in your home. Balance can be arranged to your satisfaction.

If It Is Here It's Right.

The Bone of Contention

At Hale's Ford in Virginia," said Booker Washington, "I used to know in my boyhood an old colored man called Uncle Mose.

Uncle Mose, during the Civil War, took great interest in the conflict, but he did not fight himself. A white man took him to task one day.

"Look here, Uncle Mose," he said, "here are the men of the north and the men of the south killing one another off on your account. Why don't you pitch in and join them?"

Uncle Mose looked at his interlocutor with a pleased smile.

"Mah frien'", he said, "has you evah seen two dawgs a fighting ovah a bone?"

"Of course I have," said the white man.

"Did yo' evah see the bone fight?" said Uncle Mose."

Had No Means of Reporting

General Nelson O. Miles, during his active service in the west, one day received a telegram from a subordinate who was injured in a railroad accident while on furlough. The dispatch read:

"Sorry, but cannot report today as expected, owing to unavoidable circumstances.

The tone of the message did not please the General, and he wired back:

"Report at once, or give reasons."

Back came the answer from a hospital:

"Train off—can't ride; legs off—can't walk. Will not report unless you insist."

"Oh Daddy; Isn't the world just too lovely for anything?"

"Er—yes—I suppose so. What's his name this time?"

you conduct it?

Useless

"Mother," said a discouraged first grade pupil, "I am not going to school any more."
"Why, dear?" tenderly inquired the mother.
"It's no use. I can never learn to spell. The teacher keeps changing words on me all the time."

They all helped to make the plates for this Annual and this Annual helped to feed them.

Home patronage builds the home institution. St. Joseph people have been very loyal to us, that's why we have one of the best equipped plants in the west and employ from eighteen to twenty-five people.

Conclusion

DEAR Readers: After conscientious effort and gobs of hard work, we now place in your hands this history of the past year. If this book pleases you, as we hope it does, sing its praise throughout the world, but if it does not, shut your eyes and go to sleep.

To those whom we are the most indebted and willing to fall upon our knees are our advertisers. Without them we would be without our Annuals. But others who have helped in the making of this year book and to whom we are indebted over and over are: Gist Studio, Artscraft Engraving Co., and The Midland Printing Co.
